Vol. 3—No. 88 GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1923 THREE CENTS

Our City Comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Farewell to Fr. O'Neill Has Deep Significance

THE farewell banquet given to Father O'Neill, pastor of the Holy Family Catholic church, last evening at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse was surely a fitting tribute to the man for whom it was given.

Father James S. O'Neill, who has been in Glendale for 16 years, has been transferred by the bishop to the Oxnard parish. He has shared in the upbuilding of Glendale and the edifice he leaves is a monument to his achievements.

One of the significant things of last night's event was the fact that on the platform assisting in paying tribute to Father O'Neill were Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the Congregational church, and Rev. H. C. Funk, pastor of the Lutheran church.

* * *

IS this a sign of the times—a recognition of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man—an acknowledgment that we are all trying to travel in the same general direction, only using different paths?

* * *

WE can think of nothing that would be more beneficial than a closer alignment of the different faiths. Last night's farewell, while a sad event, may have sowed the seed that will grow into a tree of good fellowship, each branch being some denomination.

* * *

ANNOUNCEMENT was made today by F. H. Williams, assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific Railway company, that his company would take out a permit soon for a new passenger station in Glendale.

This is certainly welcome news—news which we have been waiting for several years.

We, of Glendale, have thought for a long while that we were entitled to a modern station, but to convince the railroad company of this fact was a different matter.

* * *

AT LAST they have become convinced that the business we are able to fine them now justifies the expenditure of enough money to build a modern depot.

The station means more to us than just a local station, for it will undoubtedly be used by a good many residents of Hollywood, Pasadena and surrounding towns.

KIWANIS CLUB TO ATTEND ORPHEUS CLUB CONCERT

Members of the Kiwanis Club are rallying in true sportsman fashion to the support of the first big affair the club has attempted, the concert to be given Saturday night by the Orpheus Club in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon Club. Of the 750 tickets provided, 600 have already been taken by club members, and this in addition to the ads they have subscribed for in the program.

As there is no spirit of exclusion in the hearts of Kiwanis men, they will be glad to share their musical treat with Glendalians who are not members of their club and so are placing the unassigned tickets for sale at Roberts & Echols, the Glendale Pharmacy and the office of the Auto Club of Southern California.

S. P. TO START NEW STATION HERE SOON

So F. H. Williams Informs City Manager W. H. Reeves

Work will start on the new Southern Pacific station in this city within a short time, according to information received by City Manager William H. Reeves, from F. H. Williams, assistant general manager of that company, yesterday.

The letter, which is self-explanatory, is as follows:

"Your letter of March 30 in regard to the plans for the new Southern Pacific depot at Glendale received.

"The detailed plans and specifications are being completed and we expect to file an application for the building permit very shortly.

"As to the location of the depot. This will be about opposite Central avenue and will be closer to Los Feliz road than Brand boulevard. The depot could not be very well located closer to Brand boulevard owing to interlocking limits at the crossing."

500 ATTEND FAREWELL RECEPTION TENDERED TO REVEREND FR. O'NEILL

Laughter Mingles With Tears at Event That Closes Sixteen Years of Service in Glendale As the Founder of Holy Family Church

JOHN STEPHEN M'GROARTY TOASTMASTER

Excellent Musical Program Marks Evening at the Tuesday Afternoon Club, Attended by Prominent Folks of the City and Entire District

By MRS. W. Q. WIDDOWS

More than 500 Glendalians gathered at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse last evening at 6:45 to pay their tribute to Father James O'Neill at the banquet and reception given him on the eve of his departure for his new field, the big parish at Oxnard.

W. B. Kelly was general chairman of the affair and Mrs. J. F. Zimmer chairman of the reception committee. The tables were beautifully appointed and it was an animated scene in which laughter was close to tears, for in his sixteen years of service Father O'Neill has entrenched himself deeply in the hearts of his people.

After good things to eat came the program of speeches interspersed with music over which John McGroarty presided as toastmaster. This was begun in the banquet hall and finished in the auditorium to which the company adjourned. It included a group of songs by Madame Teodora Wisniewska, coloratura soprano—"Una voce poco fa" (There's a voice I Enshrine) (Rossini); Airette from "Romeo and Juliette" (Gounod) and "La Giometta" (Sibella). Madame Wisniewska is a highly paid professional artist who volunteered to sing because of her admiration for Father O'Neill. There were also much appreciated numbers at intervals during the banquet by the Kelly Shrine orchestra, and a reading and saxophone solo by little Adeline Woodbury. Herbert Lewis accompanied by Dorothea Vogel contributed a violin solo, and Edwin Albright a tenor solo—"Bedouin Love Song."

After John McGroarty had been introduced by W. B. Kelly, master of ceremonies, he said: "I must confess I was surprised when I came into the room and saw the nature of the gathering. I was invited to Glendale to say goodbye to Father O'Neill and instead of sadness everyone is jolly.

"I do not think you will ever know just how hard it is for this town to let him go away from here where there is work to do—to be shifted into a rich parish where the church is built and paid for, the school established, not even a soul to save. He will be lonesome up there with nothing to do.

"We are here tonight to say goodbye with the best heart we can and this is a splendid gathering to bid a man goodbye. Thank God he's not going far. If we can't stand it, we can kidnap him."

Mr. McGroarty then introduced Judge Thomas White of Los Angeles who said: "Mr. Toastmaster, I have been asked to talk as a page from yesterday. I was associated with Father O'Neill as a parishoner in East Los Angeles 17 years ago. We also loved and revered him and gave him reluctant farewell as he came to you. He has not confined his work to his own church, but has found time to give to the upbuilding of the civic life of Glendale and has been a living examplar of the Fatherhood of God and of the Brotherhood of Man. All, whether Catholic or not, admire Father O'Neill, and as he goes from Glendale the ravages of time will not remove the mark of remembrance of him from the community."

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, then announced that in compliment to Father O'Neill she would be glad to have the remainder of the program given in the auditorium, as some of those present in the reception hall could not hear it.

On resuming the chairmanship in the auditorium Mr. McGroarty said he had just learned that Mrs. Campbell and his mother were born in the little town of Ballymoor in the North of Ireland. He then introduced Jesse Smith, one of Father O'Neill's parishioners, who said: "I have been associated with Father O'Neill for the past seven years and I fear we cannot again be fortunate enough to find another who will suffer the inconveniences and make the sacrifices he has. He has been a member of the chamber of commerce for three years, and has always taken a great interest in civic affairs. But we are saying goodbye in an official capacity only. As our friend and loved acquaintance he is with us always."

After a reading by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, "Life's a Funny Proposition," Atorney D. Joseph Coin of Los Angeles was introduced. He said: "For 16 years Father O'Neill has talked to you. Now we have an opportunitly of talking AT him and he has to take it. I also bring greetings and testimonials from the Knights of Columbus."

Two vocal numbers were given by the June male quartet, and Mr.

CONGREGATIONAL CONVENTION OF SO. CAL. HERE

To Hold Sessions in the New Church on May 7 to 9

Glendale is to be called upon to entertain a big convention in the thirty-seventh annual meeting of the Southern California Congregational conference which will hold its sessions in this city May 7, 8 and 9, in the new Congregational church at Central and Wilson avenues.

Mrs. H. W. Yarick of 347 West Wilson has been made chairman of the entertainment committee which will be busy the coming weeks listing lodging places for the delegates. Meals will be served in the church. The convention will open Monday afternoon, May 7, but the official welcome will be given in the evening by Mayor Robinson and representatives of the local church.

Prominent divines and educators from all parts of the country will contribute to the various sessions and afford treats to Glendalians who are not Congregationalists, as well as members of the local church.

COUNTY BONDS WIN SUPPORT OF C. OF C.

Proposal to Alleviate the Hospital Congestion Is Favored Here

Pledging assistance in every way to carry the county bond issue on May 1, the directors of the Glendale chamber of commerce have joined the growing list of civic organizations to come out in favor of the proposal, designed to finance additions to the county hospital, farm, sanatorium for the tubercular and the construction of a new county jail.

In a letter addressed to County Supervisor Henry W. Wright, Secretary E. F. Sanders of the chamber says:

"After a thorough discussion the board of directors formally indorsed the bond issue, which they strongly favor, and stand ready to assist the board of supervisors in every way to carry the same."

The action comes as a result of a county-wide appeal to civic organizations for support in the campaign to carry the bonds, which has met with instant response from all quarters. The overcrowded conditions in all of the county institutions are generally recognized and pride in the progress of Los Angeles county is also a large factor in drawing support to the bonds.

DAYLIGH THIEF HELD FOR TRIAL

Harry Webster, who is charged with robbing a home on East Windsor, and who was arrested at the corner of Brand and Maple, Monday, was arraigned before Judge Lowe yesterday afternoon and his preliminary hearing was set for March 17 at 2 o'clock.

Webster is being held on $5,000 cash bail or $10,000 property bond. He was taken yesterday afternoon by Officers Royle and Simmons to the county jail in Los Angeles.

COUNCIL MAY RESCIND AID IN CLEAN UP

An attempt to rescind the action of the council ordering the clean-up in co-operation with the civic organizations, will be made tonight, at the meeting of the city council.

Every citizen, who is interested in the proper cleaning up of the city, the removal of rubbish and all nuisances which make for disorder in the resident and business district of the city should attend the meeting of the city council tonight and protest against the action.

Last week the council, after considerable protest and hesitation, consented to the use of the city trucks for the purpose of removing the debris. It is reported on the streets late this afternoon, that one member of the council intends to insist that the council withdraw its action.

Unless a delegation of the citizens attend the meeting and reinforce the demand for a city clean-up week, it is very possible that the support given the movement by the use of the city trucks will be withdrawn.

ATHLETIC WORK OF COMMUNITY IS PLANNED

Committee Considers Forming Indoor Baseball League

The Athletic committee of Community Service met last evening in the boys' gymnasium of the high school and worked out part of the athletic program to be conducted by Community Service.

Among those present were Normal Hayhurst, Rex C. Kelly, Nelson Dick, Frederick Butts, A. G. Whelan, Albert T. Blanford, and R. Ernest Tucker.

The committee was very enthusiastic over the formation of an indoor baseball league to play during the twilight hour on the high school grounds. The first game will be next Wednesday, the 18th, between the First Methodist church team and the high school class. Other teams are in the process of formation and games will be played Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings as soon as eight teams are organized and put into the schedule. These teams are to be made up of young men not attending school. The regulation indoor soft ball will be used. Plans are already under way for installing lights on the athletic field which will make it possible to play after dark.

Athletic day during National Play Week, which comes April 22 to 28 was discussed and the high school athletic department, under the direction of Mr. Hayhurst, is to put on a wrestling and boxing tournament on the evening of Wednesday, April 25. During the afternoon, the Legion baseball team will play the Harrower Laboratory team on the high school grounds. This will be followed by special stunts put on by the Boy Scouts.

Representatives of the high school students will also participate in special swimming feats in the opening of Patterson avenue pool on April 28, the last day of the play week.

ARE OUR SUNDAY SCHOOLS LOSING INFLUENCE?

[By Associated Press]

OMAHA, Neb., April 12.—The Sunday school has outlived its usefulness and is without a future, after more than one hundred years of Christian service, Rev. Dr. William E. Gardner, executive secretary of the department of education of the Protestant Episcopal church, said at a conference here today.

BOOTLEGGER PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE

Harry Brum of Los Angeles, who was arrested Saturday night on a charge of having liquor in his possession, plead guilty when he appeared before Judge Harry Chase at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He was fined $300 and given a nine-day jail sentence, which was suspended.

HI GIRLS TO HIKE

Girls of the Athletic Club of Glendale High are arranging for a hike next Saturday on which they will be accompanied by some of the teachers in physical education.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH TO START DRIVE

Parish Decides to Enlarge Church and Secure Rectory

TO SPEND $12,000

$4400 Is Raised at the Meeting Held Last Night

The recommendation of the vestry of St. Mark's Episcopal church, that the members of the parish take action to enlarge the present church building, beautify the grounds and secure a rectory, as presented last night at the parish meeting held at the church, was unanimously adopted. It was decided to put on a campaign for securing pledges aggregating $12,000. Of this amount $4,400 was secured last night.

Richardson D. White was appointed chairman of the campaign committee. The city has been districted and will be canvassed by the following captains: Casa Verdugo, Mrs. A. A. Bassett; Verdugo Woodlands, Albert Sullivan; northwest section, except Casa Verdugo, Mr. Potter; northeast section, Frank Booth; southwest section, Mr. Cattleman; southeast section, J. Trotter. The committee is to report in two weeks at a meeting which will follow the confirmation services which will be conducted here by the bishop.

In considering the recommendation of the vestry it was thought advisable to go ahead with this plan for temporary expansion, rather than start the erection of a new and permanent plant at this time. The meeting was in charge or Rev. Kemp.

The dinner, which preceded the business session, was attended by over 125 members of the church. During the evening the high school vocal quartet furnished several musical numbers which were very much appreciated.

REALTORS PLAN TO ATTEND BIG CONVENTION

Delegation to Make the Trip to Long Beach Saturday

Quite a number of the Glendale Realty Board members will attend the all-day conference which will be held in Hotel Virginia at Long Beach on Saturday, April 21, according to a vote taken at the meeting of the Glendale organization Wednesday noon.

The announcement of the meeting was made by Secretary Hayward, who read a letter from the state association bearing on the subject. President Cameron Thom stated that in his opinion this convention is something that every realtor in Glendale should attend.

"Things will be taken up and discussed there," said President Thom, "that are of especial interest to the operator in real estate. There isn't any of us who knows all there is to be known about the real estate business. Things will be taken up at this meeting that some of us have been wanting to learn about for years. The day will be crowded with things that are of interest, and every member of this board should attend."

Councilman-elect W. A. Horn also spoke on the coming convention and urged all of those at yesterday's meeting to be present.

Mr. Heogh of the Title Guarantee and Trust company was speaker of the day. He gave a very enlightening address on notes, mortgages and trust deeds, after which he answered numerous questions propounded by the members of the board.

CHATAUQUA POSTERS AND BANNERS ARE HERE

The programs, posters and banners for the Ellis & White chatauqua, which will be given in Glendale on May 11 to 17, have reached this city. All of this paraphernalia is in the office of George Leaton, 113 East Broadway. Preparations are being formed to make the chatauqua the biggest thing of its kind that has ever been put on here.

Southern California: Fair tonight and Friday; gentle northwesterly winds.

Consumers' Contest To Continue For Eight Weeks More

As there are only eight more weeks of the consumers' contest, the full page advertisement of which appears in this issue, interest is growing at a pace that promises one of the liveliest contests ever conducted by this paper. Even the housewives of Glendale are helping the contestants out by saving the labels, wrappers, etc., from the goods advertised on the Consumers' Page.

Glen Rosa products had the boards the past week, when a half dozen contestants won a special prize of 50,000 votes for turning in Glen Rosa labels. Faultless bread is also attracting a great deal of attention among contestants and the public generally. Pronto, Puritas Coffee and White King Soap are having a big run, as are Alpine Milk, Campbell's Soups, etc.

Several of the contestants who in the past have been a little behind are pulling up with a strong vote and the contest has reached the stage where it is real exciting. Raymond Hall has maintained his lead with a total of 625,000 votes, while Robert Trobridge holds second place. Dana Van Loon is crowding Trobridge for second place, while Miss Mary E. Kirby of 618 North Jackson has made a remarkable gain, climbing to fourth place. Read the contest page carefully this issue, and help the contestants with your vote.

VALLEY LEAGUE TO OPEN HERE

Glendale Team to Meet Owensmouth on Local Grounds

FIRST OF SERIES

Big Attendance Expected at the First Game Here

The Glendale Baseball team opens the San Fernando Valley League, Sunday, at the home grounds at Park avenue and San Fernando road, with the Owensmouth Club. Manager Heidler assures every game in this league will be a good one. Every club in it will put forth its best effort to end up in the first place. A number of trophies are offered, including one from the Managers' Association of Southern California; one from the Harwood Baseball Manufacturing company; one from the league managers, and also a cash prize of $150. Glendale is going after all of them.

The grounds are being fixed up considerably for this opening game. The tall grass has been mowed down and a large backstop erected and a few more seats have been put up. More seats are needed but owing to the lack of funds and the great expense of entering this league the Glendale team is "hard put" financially.

The dance that was held by the club was not much of a success. Only $30 was realized. That purchased a catcher's outfit.

The next great need of the team is uniforms. This is one important item in the league rules. Manager Heidler reports that this rule refers only to Glendale. All the other teams in the league are wonderfully uniformed and equipped.

Manager Heidler has given a special invitation to all business men of Glendale to be on hand Sunday and see the game. It will be called at 2:30.

ALLEGED BAD CHECK

C. B. Anthony, 4324 Perlita avenue, Los Angeles, who, police claim, is wanted in Glendale on a check forging charge, was taken into custody by Chief Fraser and Officer Blake at his home, which is just across the Glendale line in Los Angeles, at 7:30 o'clock last night. He was locked in Jail No. 1, pending his arraignment this morning.

According to the police Anthony forged a check for $202.50, giving it in payment for a machine to Anders & Halfhill, used car dealers on South Brand boulevard. The charge was filed against him on June 21, 1922, but the police were not able to effect the arrest until last night.

AUTOS COLLIDE

Automobiles driven by Jim Perez, Los Angeles, and Richards B. Reinhert, Tujunga, collided on Verdugo road at 11:15 o'clock last night. Little damage was done and no one was injured.

C. A. Targalls, 706 East Colorado, and a person whose name could not be learned, were driving machines that came together at the corner of Maple and Porter at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The damage was slight.

HIGH SCHOOL CORNER STONE IS SET AMID GLEAMING SUNSHINE

Thousands of People Gather to Witness Ceremony Marked by Speeches of Prominent Educators of Southern California

HIGH STUDENTS' BAND OPENS THE PROGRAM

Rev. Clifford Cole Makes Opening Invocation, While Senior Class Presents Trowel to Architect A. C. Austin for Setting the Block of Granite

By GERTRUDE GIBBS

A bright day, subdued by thin clouds that cast a haze over the green of the presiding hills, clothing them in purple mist, was the afternoon devoted to the laying of the corner stone of Glendale Union High's new plant at the corner of Broadway and Verdugo road, on Wednesday. Never could the landscape have been more restful or alluring, nor could conditions have been more ideal in temperature or in the shielding of the eyes of the thousand or more spectators who witnessed the ceremonies and maintained eager interest to the last through a chain of congratulatory speeches interspersed by delightful choruses sung by the combined glee clubs of the school led by Mrs. Florence Parker, and numbers played by the school band conducted by Hubert White.

President Thomas D. Watson, by virtue of his office, was the presiding chairman of the Board of Trustees, and introduced the preliminary speakers, then turned the program over to Principal George U. Moyse, who presided over the ceremonial of the day and introduced those who actively participated.

The arrival of the band boys in their new white trousers and sweaters decorated with harps in the school colors, indicated the beginning of the program and presently they broke into the Tenth Regiment March and then played "America" while Mrs. Parker led the audience in song. Those who subsequently contributed to the program were: Rev. Clifford Cole, who gave the invocation; Thomas D. Watson, who made the opening address; John C. Austin, architect; S. K. Mittry, contractor; B. S. Milliken, district superintendent of Covina; Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale; Dr. Harry V. Brown, member of the high school board of trustees; Secretary Sanders of the Chamber of Commerce; Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools; Dr. C. A. Langworthy, superintendent of the schools of Redondo; Mr. Aldrich, superintendent of schools of Chino; Charles Barber, superintendent of schools of Alhambra; Mrs. Eustace B. Moore, president of Glendale P.-T. A. federation; Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, president of high school P.-T. A.; George U. Moyse, principal of Glendale High; Rev. C. R. Norton, chaplain of N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R.; Mark Keppel, superintendent of Los Angeles County Schools; Dr. E. C. Moore, director of U. of C. Southern Branch; and Allen Pollock, president of the senior class of Glendale High.

Principal Moyse had charge of the box containing the records to be sealed into the wall beneath the corner stone. He referred to the opening of the box which had been placed in the corner stone of the Los Angeles normal school, now being razed, and of the interest its contents created. "We do not know," said he, "how many years will pass before others will open this box and take note of the things we place therein." He then recited the articles it already contained—plans and pictures of the present group of buildings; outlines of the courses of study beginning with the year 1903-04 and down to the present time; copies of the school annual, "The Stylus" from its first issue in 1909 to date, which contains a history of the school from year to year; six photographs of the present high school buildings; announcement of this corner stone laying; program of the exercises of the day; copy of the school paper "The Explosion" dated April 6, 1923; list of the present staff of teachers; copy of the California school law; year book of the Tuesday Afternoon club; annual report of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce for 1923; copy of Glendale city directory; a silk American flag; copies of the local daily newspapers, of the Los Angeles Times, Examiner and Express; rosters of the various P.-T. A., civic and fraternal organizations of Glendale. The remaining contributions to the box would be deposited, he stated, by the representatives of the classes which had been graduated from Glendale high. These passed in procession before the box in which they dropped their tributes as they were named by Mr. Moyse, beginning with Miss May Cornwell, who made the deposits for 1904 and 1905. She was followed by Nola Lyman (absent), May Cornwell, Ray Goode, Albert Cornwell, Lorraine Mitchell, Alma Kelty, Frances Jackson, Fay Stone, Helen Tupper, Norman Whytock, Don Packer, Wayne R. Smith, Carol Willisford Kolts, Evangeline Huntley Smith, Verne Nyman (absent), Jane Snyder, Lois Percey, Muriel Gardiner, Murray Longley, Kenneth Wilde, Frank McGillis, Agnes Brown, Martha Eilers, Maurine Bettis, Newton McGillis, Dorothy Watson, Gwen Warner, Ronald West, Elizabeth Crosson, Lee Shannon, Charles Lundie, Winona Neilson, Lois Strothers, Stanley Johns.

A surprise of the day was the introduction by Principal Moyse of Allan Pollock, president of the senior class, who presented to Architect A. C. Austin, who laid the corner stone, a beautiful sterling silver trowel with ebony handle, inscribed with the name of the school and the date. Allan said: "I appreciate the honor as president of the senior class, of presenting this trowel to be used in the laying of the corner stone of this beautiful group of buildings. To the faculty we wish success, and the students we hope will realize what the citizens have done for them, and that they will endeavor to maintain the high standard of morals of the past in Glendale Union High."

Mr. Austin exhibited the trowel to be used in the laying of a corner stone which he said he hoped would endure for generations to come. He then described the beautiful gray stone which had been uncovered and which he said was of California granite, without a flaw, and weighing three tons.

The trowel was presented to Dr. E. C. Moore, who made the final address and laid the stone after reading the inscription upon it, containing the names of the Board of Trustees, Principal George U. Moyse, Architect John C. Austin, and Contractor George Mittry. He then said: "I declare this corner stone solidly laid and true, a symbol of the teaching which is to be done here through the years." He returned the trowel to Allan Pollock, who received it on behalf of the class, and then presented it to Principal Moyse as a gift to the school.

The following excerpts from the speeches of the orators of the day will convey a general idea of the spirit in which the ceremonies were conductde:

Rev. Clifford Cole

Rev. Cole voiced the invocation, offering thanks because of the surroundings of the beautiful scene and the opportunity accorded for betterment and achievement in life. He prayed that the corner stone may be a symbol of the principles we inculcate in the hearts of our youth.

Thomas D. Watson

Thomas D. Watson, president of the board of trustees, who made the opening address, said he did not wish to take valuable time from the speakers of the day, and therefore limited himself to an expression of appreciation of the honor of the presidency of the board at the time the buildings were started, the ground breaking ceremonies performed, and now the laying of the corner stone. He paid a tribute to the builders, George and W. K. Mittry for the way in which they have pushed the work, and then introduced the architect, John C. Austin.

John C. Austin

Mr. Austin said: "I do not think you will expect much talk from an architect at this time. That should be reserved until the building is completed. The eloquence you will want us to show will be in the speed with which your buildings go forward. The excellence with which we use our tools in its construction must demonstrate to you our honesty of purpose.

"The ceremony of laying a corner stone is an old one. The object is to carry along the history of the work done. History is sometimes preserved in inscriptions on buildings. During the past few weeks we have been reading of wonderful inscriptions uncovered in Egypt which were put upon walls for the edification of coming generations.

"Into the corner stone we are putting records of this school district that will give some of the history of the country we live in.

GIANT ELECTRIC POWER PLANT IS COMMENCED

So. Cal. Edison Company Swings Into Program on Big Creek Project

"Building of the largest water power electric generating power house west of Niagara Falls was commenced this morning by the Southern California Edison company," said District Manager H. B. Fletcher today. He had just received a message from Mr. R. H. Ballard, vice-president and general manager, notifying him that 100,000 horsepower would be shortly available from this great construction program, insuring an ample supply of electric power for all purposes.

"This power house," said District Manager Fletcher, "will be the fourth of the chain of Edison company power houses on its Big Creek-San Joaquin River project, and is the first to be constructed on the main channel of the San Joaquin river far down the canyon and will receive its water supply by diverting the river through a tunnel nearly six miles long and twenty-one feet in diameter, now nearing completion, which is a part of the 86 miles of tunnel system contemplated in this development project. The first 33,000 horsepower generating unit will come into operation about August 1, and will be followed by the second unit about September 1 and it is expected that the entire plant with 100,000 horsepower capacity will be completed and the power placed on the lines by October 1.

"This power will be transmitted for distribution over the first commercially operated transmission line operating at 220,000 volts, the highest voltage ever used for transmission in the world, and over a line of 240 miles, terminating near Los Angeles, establishing a new world's record in the long distance transmission of electric energy.

"The capacity of this plant will be equal to about one-half the maximum demand for light, power and railway requirements in the entire city of Los Angeles, with a population estimated at 850,000. It will increase by one-fourth the present water power and steam generating capacity of the entire Edison system which now supplies the principal electric demands in the counties of Los Angeles, Fresno, Kings, Tulare, Kern, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside, with a total population of over a million and a half.

"Glendale, Los Angeles and over 250 other cities, towns and intervening rural communities will receive an ample supply of electric energy from this titanic source of power to meet all their demands for house and street lighting, agricultural development and for factories for some time to come.

"The power which will be derived from this new electric giant of the west will be sufficient to bring under cultivation 130,000 acres of semi-arid agricultural land and to propel 600 factories, which, according to accepted statistics, will give employment to 40,000 workers.

"With the completion of the great Florence Lake tunnel, over thirteen miles in length, the longest tunnel in the west, the great watersheds which lie between the Kaiser Range and the Minaret Range in the High Sierras, having an area about the size of the Hawaiian Islands, will be tapped and their water flow from the melting snows will reach the generators of this new plant at a fall from Mt. Hilgard, the highest summit, a drop of over 11,000 feet or more than two miles of perpendicular drop. After they have passed through the turbines of this plant, they will return undiminished into the San Joaquin river in an even flow to irrigate the lands of the valley beneath, flood damage and waste of water being completely eliminated.

"The building of the super-structure, which was commenced today, is the final step in two years of preliminary work, which required cutting a road from the face of the precipice above the San Joaquin river, which was one of the most daring pieces of construction work of the period; the boring of six miles of tunnel, the construction of a new dam across the San Joaquin river and the hauling of 82,000 tons of material for building the foundations and base for the power house which will be of structural steel and concrete and along the most improved lines of modern construction. This power-house will be built in record time, the actual construction work not to consume over 141 days."

IRISH REPUBLICANS REPORTED CAPTURED

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, April 12.—It is reported in Clonmel that Count Plunkett, Countess Markievicz, Miss Mary MacSwiney and the late Liam Lynch's brother, were captured by Irish national troops in Tipperary today, says an exchange telegraph dispatch from Dublin.

Contractor S. K. Mittry, who was next called upon, said: "I am glad to have the opportunity to express to you my appreciation of the fine school you are building for the better education of your children and for a greater and bigger Glendale."

B. S. Milliken

B. S. Milliken, district superintendent of Covina, said: "I bring greetings from Covina to Glendale on her enterprising efforts to construct a group of buildings like this. Some one said we were raising crops in Southern California, but the indications are we are raising men and women. That is the business in which I am interested, and I want to congratulate Glendale on its wonderful plant."

Mayor Spencer Robinson

Mayor Robinson when called upon, slyly poked fun at his predecessors who had excused themselves on the ground of surprise at being called upon, by declaring he was probably the only speaker "prepared," that he had to be always ready to talk at any old time. "This gathering," said he, "is an honor to Glendale.

"I remember the little old school house built at Taylor Ridge, Ill., in one day. There was no corner stone laying and no orators, simply workers. Those were different days from these days. In the winter time we went for all day, carrying our lunches in tin pails. In the summer we worked on the farms. Here there will be a large cafeteria. The boys and girls will come in automobiles, some with Fords, some with Lexingtons. In those days some came with ox teams, some with "broncs." We also had wheel barrows and had to push them.

"The other day I went up in an airplane so high I hardly dared to look down. I felt I had lost all hope of ever landing. Then we struck an air pocket, a vacation place in the air and kept going down, down. I was brought up in a religious family and when I struck that pocket I remembered my early training, how I went to Sunday school and learned the Lord's prayer. I had not repeated it much since until I struck that air pocket.

"I believe in early training and am convinced it all comes back in emergency."

Dr. Harry Brown

Dr. Harry V. Brown, responding to call said: "I understood the president of the board was delegated to speak for all its members, but I am glad to greet you."

Secretary Sanders

When Mr. Sanders, secretary of the chamber of commerce was called upon, he said: "I do not know of any more inspiring sight than a lot of boys and girls engaged in the business of making men and women of themselves. I have seen a great many beautiful things in Southern California, but I have never seen anything more beautiful than the 1500 girls that come out of that high school every night. (Laughter and applause).

"It must be a very proud moment to you all to know that greater preparations are being made for the future of your education and the education of the boys and girls now in the grammar schools.

"I said some time ago that a republican form of government was either the best or the worst form of government. I believe it is the best form when the people, who are the government, realize the responsibilities of that form of government and establish such institutions as we are building here and commemorate by the laying of this corner stone. They are the institutions that prepare you to go out and use your wonderful opportunities, to know what the fundamental principles of your government are and how to live in harmony with those principles.

"We have a great country, the greatest the world knows anything about, a country that is growing greater all the time but, believe me, there are certain institutions and certain organizations whose intent it is to destroy our republic, tear down our flag, and do away with such buildings as this. It is up to you people to meet the menace of this organization and put in its place a constructive organization.

"You young people are a great constructive force soon to be turned out from under the care of your teachers into actual citizenship to meet the problems our nation has to solve. I have no fears regarding the successful solution of those problems so long as we look up to Old Glory, reverence that flag and the principles for which it stands, and prepare ourselves through such institutions as this for the problems which await us."

Richardson D. White

The superintendent of city schools said: "I assure you I appreciate the privilege of any occasion when I can stand before an audience where such buildings are to be dedicated.

"Some one has said: 'Education is the true function of government,' and surely the words of our secretary of commerce should sink into our hearts, for without good schools this republic cannot endure.

"We, the people of Glendale, and other districts included in it, are to be congratulated on this opportunity to lay the corner stone of what will prove to be one of the greatest institutions in California."

DR. C. A. LANGWORTHY

The superintendent of the Redondo city schools, when called upon, said: "I believe I am in one of the air pockets your mayor told us about so far as a speech is concerned. I am interested to know there are 1500 beautiful girls in Glendale high. I know where there are 1500 young men who would be glad to meet them. (Applause.) I bring you greetings from Redondo Beach. Some day we are going to break ground for an addition to our school and when that is dedicated we hope you will come and encourage us."

MR. ALDRICH

The superintendent of schools at Chino, said: "You have been congratulated on a number of points. I want to congratulate you on two more: On the architects you selected and your contractors. They are doing fine work for us and at schools we have recently inspected. They will give you the best of service and will not stop when they have received their money but will follow the thing through to a conclusion."

CHARLES BARBER

The superintendent of schools at Alhambra, said: "The fastest growing city in Southern California sends greetings to the other fastest growing city. (Laughter). We are sometimes warned about the awful cost of education. I used to worry until I read of the amount of money spent for chewing gum and moving pictures and realized that education is still on the safe and economical side of life. Alhambra felicitates you on your new high school and wishes you God speed."

MRS. EUSTACE B. MOORE

The president of the Federation of Parent-Teacher associations of Glendale, said: "I am awfully proud of our high school and its trustees, of our city dads and members of our chamber of commerce, but I am especially proud of the good looking boys in Glendale high." (Applause.)

MRS. W. Q. WIDDOWS

The president of the high school P. T. A., said: "We are very proud of our band this afternoon. The P. T. A. is responsible for the uniforms they are wearing and we appreciate the music they have given us."

President Watson announced telegrams of congratulation received from a number of distinguished educators who were unable to be present, the list including A. C. Olney, commissioner of education; Dr. Von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California; President Blaisdel of Pomona college; Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of the Los Angeles schools, and others.

GEORGE U. MOYSE

The history of his connection with the school was briefly reviewed by Principal George U. Moyse, who said: "In August, 1902, Superintendent Keppel and I came from Los Angeles to Glendale on the old terminal railway to witness the laying of the corner stone of the first building for this Glendale Union high school, which stood where the Security National bank now stands. The town had voted the year before the very large sum of $10,000 for a high school. The city had made the district a gift of the site. It was figured at that time it would be large enough to meet the needs of a generation. We outgrew that site and in 1908 had another corner stone laying when we placed the administration building where it now stands. Again in 1911 and 1915 we built two buildings, having increased the site by the purchase of additional ground, and since then have increased our capacity by adding ten rooms in bungalow buildings. We are now starting on a new enterprise with 23 acres and this group of buildings under construction. The science building to the right, the administration building where I now stand and the auditorium to the rear and to our left the big study hall, library, class rooms for foreign languages, English and history, rooms for the commercial department, sewing and cooking.

"We have no provision for those very essential departments, manual arts and physical education. Provision will have to be made for those.

"It is magnificent to see what is being done and what it is going to mean, but it is a warning of what is to come. As long as this section remains as attractive as it now is, people are bound to come and when they come we can do nothing else than take care of them in school facilities. I want every one to look forward to the wonderful things of the future."

REV. C. R. NORTON

The chaplain of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., said: "I remember very distinctly when we landed in Glendale nearly 20 years ago and when the high school stood on the corner of Broadway and Brand. The man who has largely engineered the interests of this institution still is at the helm, for which I am devoutly thankful. I rejoice to look into the faces of those in whose hands the destiny of this civilization is assured, the boys and girls. They are the pride at every true American heart, and we rejoice in the assurance that we shall go forward in achievement."

MARK KEPPEL

Mr. Keppel was introduced by Mr. Moyse as having been in control of the schools of Los Angeles county since 1902, the most magnificent school system in California, and the best in the nation. Mr. Keppel congratulated Glendale on its mayor, and also on its manhood and womanhood. He said: "I am not afraid of the prospect you hold out so alluringly that in a little while Los Angeles will be annexed to Glendale. We wouldn't care if we were.

"I wonder who selected this high school site? As I have been sitting here it has seemed to me if you had searched the world over it would have been impossible to find a more charming prospect. I remember that corner stone laying at Broadway and Brand. We stood on the side lines but we also helped. It is a distinguishing characteristic of the American people that we all take a hand."

"The graduates who have passed through our halls and gone out into the world to apply what they learned and play their part in the development of this imperial republic are few compared with the great number who will march out of these halls in the years to come. They will go to the ends of the earth, pouring out their treasure wherever they are needed. You are doing for the far-corners of the world as well as the spot nearest.

"There are those who tell us that in education we are moving too fast. We are moving pretty fast. You know Alice in Wonderland said: 'Things move so fast you have to run as fast as you can to stay where you are.' But in education we haven't traveled so fast as in many other lines.

"I was reading the other day that only seven years ago the people of America consumed a billion coffin nails and that last year the cigarette manufacturers sold 50 billion coffin nails. If I were responsible for the government of this state or any part of it, I would be infinitely more concerned over the unparalleled enlargement of that menace of death and destruction than over the growth of the public school system.

"We are not spending very much money on education when you get down to bedrock figures. The cost of this high school is so small that if we were going to build a modern battleship we would need sixty times as much money.

"You are building a high school here and in just a litle while you will have to put another high school equal to this on the other side of your district and one or two, the other side of those beautiful mountains or else you will have to shut your gates and say to the easterner that Glendale doesn't want him. When Glendale doesn't want the easterner, the sun will rise in the west and the railroads will pay taxes without protest."

Dr. E. C. Moore

The director of the University of California, Southern Branch, after complimenting the audience on its interest and good humor under the lengthy flow of oratory, said in part: "I bring to you the good wishes and congratulations of the University of California, which has a very lively interest in what you are doing and what you are going to do.

"I came across this afternoon a statement such as we used to make in the clear-seeing time of the war, in the days when folks knew what their country meant—when they knew how their country was supported and how necessary it was for young people to be brought up with a proper attitude towards their country. It was a statement brought by our own John Finley from the French people in the midst of war. This is the word they sent us:

"'Do not let the need of the hours, however demanding, or the burdens however heavy, or its perils however heart breaking, make you unmindful of those things through which the institutions of civilization can be preserved.'

"It is not what we say, but what we do, that is going to count. May the work we are doing be as strong and uplifting in character as is this corner stone we now lay."

MRS. H. C. JELLEY WINS STOVE AT COKER & TAYLOR

Two Hundred Women Attend Demnostration of Good Cookery

Not less than 200 women of Glendale attended the demonstration at the Coker & Taylor school of cookery, conducted by Mrs. H. A. Border, Wednesday afternoon. It was a very practical illustration of what can be done with the "direct action" or "bottomless oven" stove which has its sales headquarters at that store, in charge of Oliver Merrill, agent for the manufacturers in Southern California.

It was an occasion of special interest in that one of the stoves which Coker & Taylor give once in two months to some attendant on the demonstration was bestowed.

The drawing was made by a little girl named Harriet Wilson, who was but 3 1-2 years old. The lucky ticket which she drew matched the ticket held by Mrs. H. C. Jelley of 121½ East Lomita, wife of the dentist, Dr. Jelley.

During the demonstration chocolate cake, Martha Washington cake, chocolate and rhubarb pie, which had been baked in the demonstration oven, were served.

Mr. Merrill reports the sale of 700 stoves in his territory during the past year, with every buyer a booster. He announced that in two months another stove would be bestowed upon some attendant on the demonstrations.

HARRY A. JAMES IS PLEASED WITH NEW STORE

Harry James is very much pleased with the new location of his phonograph and record shop, which was removed the latter part of last week from the court at 211 East Broadway to 117 South Brand. He is rejoicing in additional room and the increased patronage he is receiving in the more central site.

As most of his friends and patrons know, he is handling the Starr phonograph and Gennett records and has on sale some of his own personal records made during his recent visit to New York. They are going splendidly.

JERRY JETER HAS BITTER WORDS FOR THE SINNERS

JERRY JETER JOLTS

"It is not hard for a boy to put his hand on the place that hurts if he has been eating green apples. It is not hard for us to show God where we lost our blessing if our hearts are hurting on account of our sins.

"About all some of us do religiously is to make a little path to the church on Sunday morning and then make a little path back home.

"In pronouncing the word 'sin' you hear the hiss of the serpent.

"It takes more than a little powder on the face to make a charming personality.

"An old man testified one night: 'Well, brothers and sisters, I've been in the harness nigh onto 40 years.' Then an elderly sister said: 'Yes, an' you've never done anything but break the holdin' back straps, either!'

"There is a difference in that some are rich and others are poor; some are educated and others uneducated, but the Bible and life's experience tells us that we have all sinned and come short of the glory of God."

What is perhaps the most intensely convincing sermon the evangelist, Jerry Jeter, has yet delivered in the tabernacle on the corner of Broadway and Cedar was preached by him last night on Romans 3:22, 23: "For there is no difference; for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

The revivalist showed that there was no difference for we all have sinned; we have all tasted of sin; all have been sold under sin; all have been wounded by sin; all must repent of our sin; all can be saved from our sins. "Then there will be a difference," Mr. Jeter said.

Mrs. Jeter gave a Bible hour yesterday to the largest week-day crowd that has yet heard her. Mr. Jeter promises one of his big pictures for tonight and one of the best services yet. Sunday night the evangelist proposes to speak on: "What has become of the religion of the Pilgrim fathers?"

He says that he will also speak on the conditions that have brought about the Ku Klux Klan and other organizations in this country. He says that he has held revival campaigns in various parts of this land and has kept his eyes open on the conditions that are stirring this country. At the 10:30 hour he promises to speak on "Who is Jesus?"

MARSTON OPENS CAFE

W. G. Marston and wife of Boston, Mass., have arrived in Glendale and have opened up the New England lunch at 111 North Maryland avenue. Mr. Marston was chef at the Press club, Chicago, for six years, and says he will be able to give Glendale a lunch counter and restaurant that will meet the demands of the most exacting. He expects to buy a home in Glendale.

PENNSYLVANIANS TO PLAY LAST AT CLUBHOUSE

Waring's College Musicians Engaged for Informal Dance

Waring's Pennsylvanians will play tomorrow, Friday night, at an informal dance to be held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. The orchestra has filled the Glendale theater to capacity each evening despite the threatening weather conditions. Each night people have had to stand in line. Tonight will be the last performance of this wonderful organization at the Glendale theater and tomorrow night the human jazzer will have the one opportunity to step to the super-jazz strains of this incomparable orchestra.

Glendale is going to step like she never stepped before.

UNITED BUILDERS TO HOLD MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

New Exchange Secures Headquarters on North Maryland Avenue

The recently organized Builders' Exchange of Glendale has begun to function. Exchange quarters have been rented this week at No. 113 North Maryland and it is anticipated that the establishment of relations between manufacturer, dealer, contractor, and citizen interested in the various branches of the building industry will result.

The organization maintains business quarters for the use of its members and the public in Glendale. It advocates enactment and enforcement of laws for the protection of all citizens in matters affecting public work and building operations.

The Exchange quarters are to be fitted up for the convenience of the public as well as its members, and a bureau of information will freely advise on all building problems. The Exchange membership roster will at all times be open to the general public.

The first meeting of the Exchange in its own quarters is scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gewinner of 1134 North Campbell street, have had as their guest for the past ten days, Mrs. Gewinner's brother, E. L. Lawrence, who has just returned to his home in Kansas City, Missouri. Mr. Lawrence is president of the Kansas City Credit Association and also credit manager for Wolff Brothers of that city.

CITY ACTORS ARE BECOMING WELL KNOWN

Harry James Writes Parody in Contest for Fun Revue

PARODIES
By Harry A. James

Oh, Mr. Gallagher; oh, Mr. Gallagher,
Did you know Mayor Robinson went up on high?
He took a ride in a plane,
Not expecting to come back again—
But he reached the ground and heaved a sigh.

Oh, Mr. Shean, oh, Mr. Shean,
I knew where Spencer Robinson had been;
He went up in that plane
Just to look for some rain—
Did he find it, Mr. Gallagher?
No, he found moonshine, Mr. Shean.

Oh, Mr. Gallagher oh, Mr. Gallagher,
These Glendale Warriors are feeling pretty good,
They're going to build a home
So they will not have to roam—
The people voted, tho I didn't think they would.

Oh, Mr. Shean. oh, Mr. Shean,
You'd be surprised at what I've seen—
The government gave the grub,
But it was common, that's the rub—
Maybe it was doughnuts, Mr. Gallagher?
No, just the hole in the doughnut, Mr. Shean.

The Glendale Community Players announce with much gratification that Mrs. Mattison B. Jones and Mayor Spencer Robinson have consented to present the parody verse prizes at the Fun Revue to be given next week, April 19 and 20, at the Tuesday Afternoon club house, at 8:15 p. m. Mrs. Mattison Jones will present two of the prizes from the stage on Thursday evening, and Mayor Robinson will present the other two prizes on Friday evening.

In addition to the appearance of these two well-known Glendale citiezns, four gentleman—Colonel Everington, Dr. Mabry, Dwight Stephenson and Robert Plume will act as ushers. No one can afford to miss the Fun Revue, the first musical comedy ever presented by the Community Players.

'NTH COMMANDMENT' TO BE WEEK-END T. D. & L. SHOW

To Frances Marion, one of the leading scenario writers in motion pictures and who adapted to the screen Fannie Hurst's famous "Humoresque," was entrusted the task of supervising the making of "The Nth Commandment," another popular Fannie Hurst story which Cosmopolitan Productions picturized for Paramount, with Frank Borzage as director, and which comes to the T. D. & L. theater Friday and Saturday.

The filming of "The Nth Commandment" brought together the same combination which created Humoresque. That picture, hailed as one of the greatest ever made, was also founded on a story written by Miss Hurst. Frank Borzage also directed "Humoresque," which was adapted for the screen by Frances Marion who also supervised its production.

Hal Rosson, a most capable cinematographer, is responsible for the excellent photographic effects in the new Paramount picture, "The Glimpses of the Moon," which is closing tonight at the T. D. & L. theater.

GLENDALE STAR IN HEART-TOUCHING FILM PLAY

A drama of heart-gripping interest was presented at the Glendale Theatre yesterday and will be repeated this afternoon and tonight. The title is "The Forgotten Law," and the center of interest is the sweet young bride of a profligate young rounder whom she thinks is a real man until his misdeeds and neglect open her eyes to his worthlessness. Six years after the marriage the husband, Victor Jarnette, ably portrayed by Jack Mulhall, is killed by one of his forsaken victims, but a few hours after he revised his will by adding a codicil which bequeathed the only child of the couple, a lovely little girl, to his brother, a splendid young man, who adores Victor and thinks him a young saint. Richard Jarnette accepts the trust, believing that the wife, Margaret, portrayed by Cleo Ridgely, murdered her husband. The obsolete law by which the bequest is made, is proven to be operative and the frantic mother is forced to submit. The heart-breaking scenes where she appeals to the stern brother and where he lovingly tries to comfort the bereft little daughter are splendidly played. Milton Sills is Richard Jarnette. The true murderess finally confesses and the little one is returned to the mother, who is later successfully wooed by Richard. Cleo Ridgely is at her best in these wonderful scenes. She is known to most Glendale people as Mrs. James Horne of Valley View road, a charming wife and mother. Her husband directed the filming of the play.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS ANDERSON IS ANNOUNCED

Dainty Function Is Held at Harriet Mae Tea Room

A wedding in the near future was made known at an announcement party at the Harriet Mae Tea room, given by Mrs. Jennie Hinthorne of 423 West Oak in honor of her sister, Miss Alta H. Anderson, who will become the bride of Mr. Joseph F. Free. Covers were laid for eight. The color scheme was pink and yellow, with tulip of same shades. Place cards with the names of the couple hidden under a rose bud disclosed the secret. The favors were potted pansies. A delicious five-course chicken dinner was served in the Harriet Mae style.

The guests were Dr. Lolita Flewelling, Mrs. Dennie Culver, the Misses Helen Gettys, Beunna Gray, Dorothy Smith, Julia Cunningham, the honoree and hostess.

FEDERATION OF P. T. A. DISCUSSES CONVENTIONS

Conventions and conferences provided the topics for discussion at the regular meeting of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations, held yesterday afternoon at the high school cafeteria. On account of the laying of the corner stone for the new high school building, Mrs. E. B. Moore, president, left early and the remainder of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. L. T. Rowley. Announcement was made of the state convention to be held at Stockton May 8 to 11. Mrs. Moore will be the representative from the Glendale federation.

The first district conference will be held in Los Angeles April 26 and 27. Each association in Glendale will be represented. The Glendale federation has been asked to have its members act as hostesses th opening day of the conference.

It was announced that unique plans are being carried out whereby Glendale is to receive a great deal of publicity at the state convention on the increase in population, school bond issues, school enrollment and development, by means of a large map.

CHAPTER L OF P. E. O. HOLDS ALL-DAY SESSION

Members of Chapter L, P. E. O., held an all-day session yesterday at the home of Mrs. Daniel Campbell, with Mrs. Ina Randolph, Mrs. Nell Maxwell, and Mrs. Amy Timothy as assisting hostesses. The morning was devoted to a business session. In the afternoon a very interesting program on "The Civil War" was given, in charge of Mrs. D. L. Gregg. There were a group of piano solos by Mrs. Harriett Randall and also vocal numbers by Mrs. Nell Maxwell.

On account of the State P. E. O. convention at Santa Barbara coming on the next regular meeting day of the chapter, it has been postponed for one week and the next meeting will be held on May 16.

FOOD SALE BY LADIES OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The ladies of Central Christian Church will hold another of their popular food sales at the Alice Marie Shop, 618 East Broadway, Saturday. Real home baked cakes, pies, bread, beans and the like, as well as appetizing salads, will be on sale.

EVENING SERVICES AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The evening services at the Glendale Presbyterian church this week are full of interest. Tuesday evening Dr. David A. Murray of Japan gave some interesting facts and experiences out of his thirty-five years of missionary work in Japan. Last evening Rev. W. E. Edmonds, the pastor, had charge of the services and continued the study of the books of the Bible with the prophecy of Isaiah as the theme. This prayer service on Pre-communion week is always largely attended and full of interest. The "social half hour" for greeting strangers and friends followed the prayer service.

Thursday evening is "Sunday School Night," and Mr. H. L. Finlay, the Sunday school superintendent, will have charge. The officers and teachers of the school will meet at the lunch table at 6:30, where they will informally discuss the work. Following the lunch there will be brief devotional exercises and at 7:30 Mrs. Frances Neth will give an address on some phase of Sunday school work, followed by an informal conference. Mrs. Neth was in Glendale with the John Brown party and made many friends here who will be glad to attend this service and hear her message. On Friday evening, Dr. Frederic W. Farr, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Los Angeles, will preach. His subject will be "The Timeliness of Divine Interventions." Dr. Farr's friends who have heard this message have been kind enough to say that it is one of the strongest and clearest cut presentations which Dr. Farr has ever given. This service is popularly known among the Presbyterians as "Family Night," and all the family plan to attend. This service is of special interest to young people.

The session will meet after the service this evening and after the service on Friday evening to receive new members into the church. A large number has already been received by the Session since last communion and it is expected that the accession of new members on Sunday morning will be one of the largest in the history of the church.

The membership of the congregation has grown to such an extent that an office has been opened at the church. The secretary of the church, Miss Louise M. Guenther, is in charge of the office and is present from 9 to 12 and 2 to 5 each day except Saturday. The telephone number of this new office is Glen. 3189, and all matters relating to any phase of the church or its work or the new building project will be handled from this office.

DR. JACKMAN CELEBRATES MOTHER'S BIRTHDAY

Dr. Caroline Paine-Jackman of 515 NorthKenwood street, entertained with a birthday celebration yesterday in hoonr of the 77th anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Mary L. Paine. The guests included T. W. Hindman of Sedalia, Mo., brother of Mrs. Paine, and four nephews and their families, L. L. Ratekin and daughter Gladys of Covina, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Datekin of Laverne. Mr. and Mrs. Loren Ratekin and son Byron Kent of Laverne, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ratekin of Huntington Park, Mrs. Lenora Godfrey and Dr. Caroline Paine-Jackman. Mrs. Paine's many Glendale friends showered her with beautiful bouquets of flowers during the day, for which she expresses her appreciation. She also received over 50 birthday cards and letters from former Orange friends.

THURSDAY CLUB TO HAVE FOOD SALE

A food sale for the benefit of the Thursday Afternoon club building fund will be held Saturday, April 14, beginning at 11 a. m., at 1400 South Brand. The committee in charge will be Mrs. S. Vantine of 3411 La Clede avenue, chairman, and Mesdames A. H. Mayne of 1236 South Orange and William C. Mabry, president of the club, who lives on East Acacia.

THE MUTUAL BENEFIT READING CIRCLE MEETS

The meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle held at the library yesterday with Mrs. A. A. Barton in charge, was a very busy and interesting session. The reviews for the day were given by Mrs. Peckham and included "Twenty-One Years of Begging for Other People," telling of the work of Miss Berry in her schools in Georgia, and "Two Women and a School for Bad Boys," which deals with a school for incorrigibles at Indianapolis. The introduction to the new book, "Play and Education," by Joseph Lee, was read by Mrs. H. V. Henry.

It was decided that the Circle would celebrate Baby Day on April 25, and invitations will be sent to all the circle babies asking them to be guests of the club on that day.

A message was read from Mrs. Charles Toll, founder of the reading circle, stating that she is to be the speaker on Reading Circle Work at the National Congress of Mothers at Louisville, Kentucky, and asked for suggestions from the members as to the benefits they had derived from Reading Circle work.

Announcement was made of a card party to be held Thursday evening at the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse and also of a children's matinee there on Saturday afternoon.

A request was made from Mrs. H. H. Thompson of Eagle Rock asking for speakers from Glendale on Reading Circle Work at the East End School, Eagle Rock, Friday, April 20. It is their desire to establish a reading circle in Eagle Rock as a gift from the federation at the time of their annexation to the Los Angeles district.

THE EXCHANGE CLUB HEARS OF WORK NATIONALLY

At the regular weekly luncheon and session of the Exchange Club Wednesday noon, John B. Merrill, educational secretary of the national organization was present, and gave an excellent talk on the work of Exchange clubs throughout the country.

Several representatives from the Long Beach club were guests, including the president of the organization.

Mr. Leavitt, of the Industrial Exposition, was a visitor. He was accompanied by one of the artists who will sing at the exposition and who gave some fine soprano solos.

Several of the visitors were called upon and recited the benefits derived from their exchange clubs.

UNIVERSITY SCHEDULES SERIES OF LECTURES

A number of Glendale residents are planning to avail themselves of the opportunity of attending the series of public lectures to be given by members of the staff of the department of physics, University of California, Southern Branch, on subjects of popular interest, illustrated by experiments or otherwise. These lectures, which include the following, will be given at 8 o'clock in the evening in the lecture room at Berkeley hall, 855 North Vermont avenue, Los Angeles.

April 12—"The Experimental Study of Musical Tones," by Dr. L. E. Dodd.

April 19—"Radio-Communication," by A. H. Warner.

April 26—"X-Rays," by Dr. J. M. Adams.

May 3—"Inside the Atom," by Dr. V. O. Knudsen.

May 10 — "Photography in Colors," by J. D. Elder.

McCARTHY'S MARK BIRTHDAY OF VISITOR FROM MILWAUKEE

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McCarthy of 132½ North Kenwood street, entertained with a birthday dinner party Tuesday noon in honor of Mrs. Charles Manegold of Milwaukee, who has been spending the winter in Glendale. The guests were all former Milwaukee friends and included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manegold and Rose Manegold, Mrs. Olga Manegold of Glendale and Miss Florence Percy. Decorations of spring flowers were used thruout the house.

FIVE HUNDRED AT RECEPTION TO FR. O'NEILL

McGroarty introduced Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of the Lutheran church of this city, who said: "I enjoy this spirit of getting together. We should do it oftener. You have been a happy people with a goodly man going about among you."

Mayor Robinson was introduced as the "greatest mayor of the greatest city in the United States." He said: "It is a great honor to be here tonight. Father O'Neill came to Glendale a boy, and the handsomest boy I ever saw, sixteen years ago, and started the little church. His mission has been to do good. He has been a real 'pal' of mine and he has been a 'pal' of yours."

Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church of Glendale, said: "For sixteen years Father O'Neill has stood for the best things in life in Glendale. He is a priest of God and it is fitting that you should pay your respects to him. We are all, though of different creeds, seeking to establish the Kingdom of God upon the earth."

Two Spanish songs were sung by Miss Viola Yorba with Mr. Martinez at the piano and Father O'Neill was summoned to the telephone. After he left the room Mr. McGroarty informed the audience it was a trick to insure his absence that those present might have opportunity to give a practical tribute to Father O'Neill, and a "bag of money" was spedily collected and presented to the guest.

Following a violin solo played by Mr. Kelly, leader of the Shrine Orchestra, James Dayton, attorney, was introduced, and said: "Friends, a while ago we celebrated Father O'Neill's fifteenth anniversary among us, and his hardships and achievements were reviewed. His bishop deemed him worthy of promotion but he goes to a community which lacks the energy and elements of growth of this city. His departure requires a successor and he will take it as a compliment if we pledge our loyal support to his successor. He is not leaving us for he will be close enough to keep in constant touch with us. So he has no occasion to say goodbye."

Father O'Neil was then given an opportunity to 'come back at the speakers' and said: "I just want to say a word of thanks. My heart is too full to say all but I wish to thank all the commitees in charge of the wonderful dinner, the girls who served it, the ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon Club. We have been pioneers together. I wish to thank Mrs. Campbell for her flowers and courtesy, to thank Dr. Funk and Dr. Calderwood for their kind words. This is not goodby but 'Aloha Oe'—'Till we meet again!'" of a Safe Deposit Box which is not always considered.

It is the convenience and satisfaction of having just one place in which to put all of your private papers and valuables. You know just where to put your finger on them, without searching through a number of desk or bureau drawers and other hiding places.

And you know that they are safe—not only from loss or destruction, but from prying eyes.

The cost of this convenience and protection is trifling.

BEAUTIFUL
BELLEHURST PARK
IN THE HEART OF GLENDALE

NOW SELLING
LIKE WILD-FIRE!

This magnificent old estate—an enchanted garden in the midst of the fastest forward marching city in America.

Come today—at once—and see with your own eyes these wonderful home-sites covered with fine old palms, magnolias, oaks, and hundreds of bearing orange, Lemon and olive trees.

We are creating here in Glendale a unique residence park for Southern California—one that will rival and excel in beauty the thousand acres of distinctive home communities we have developed in Piedmont and Oakland in the San Francisco Bay region.

Bellehurst Park is dedicated to fine homes. Restrictions are carefully worked out to insure steadily increasing values. All city improvements of the highest type are now being installed at our expense. Pacific Electric trains only 2 blocks away. Four schools within 5 blocks. Very easy terms to first buyers.

One Road Only to Reach Heaven, Says Rev. C. S. Prout

There is only one road by which we can get to heaven, and the multitude are not traveling in that road, declared Rev. C. S. Prout to a large audience at the Seventh Day Adventist tabernacle on Myrtle avenue, Eagle Rock, Wednesday evening. Many who think they are traveling the right road, he said, will find at the last that they have been deceived. They will find that the Bible spoke the truth in saying that "straight is the gate and narrow is the way that leads to life, and few there be that find it."

Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life." He is the door of the sheepfold, and all who enter must pass through that door. Jesus is coming again to the earth to gather His people, but not everyone who makes a profession of goodness or is doing great things in the name of Christ, will be accepted by Him then. To all workers of iniquity, however secretly done, He will say, depart from me. We cannot deceive the Lord, however successfully we may deceive our associates and even ourselves.

The Bible tells us how Christ is going to return, and what will happen when he comes. We hear all kinds of doctrine about the coming of Christ. Some say His coming is already in the past, and others say He is here now. The spiritualist medium claims that Christ appears at the seance. But the Bible plainly tells us that the coming of Christ will be seen by everybody on the earth, for He will appear in great glory, surrounded by all the angels of heaven. Matt. 24:30 and 25:31. "Every eye shall see Him," says Rev. 1:7. He "will descend from heaven with a shout" (1 Thess. 4:16), and that shout will be heard; it will even wake the dead. We will not need to go out into the desert, or into the secret chamber, to see Christ when He comes.

Matt. 25:31-33, tells us that at His coming He will divide the people into two classes. He will set the "sheep" on His right hand and the "goats" on His left, and to the latter class He will say, "Depart from Me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and His angels." V. 41. There is no Bible promise of a good time coming, when it will be easy for people to do right, and those who are counting on such a thing will be fatally deceived. God is going to arise and "shake terribly the earth" (Isa. 2:19-21), and people will be calling for the mountains to fall on them and hide them from His face. We all need a preparation for that day.

Rev. Prout said that the devil is to have a thousand years vacation, and this will be the topic of the discourse next Sunday evening.

"Mamma," queried four-year-old Edith, "where do people go when they die?"

"I can't tell just exactly where," answered her mother.

"But don't you know," asked the little miss.

"Of course not, Edith," she replied. "How should I know?"

"Why, mamma," continued the small interrogator, "didn't you never study geography?"

NEWS AND VIEWS OF EAGLE ROCK CITY

SUNRISE CIVIC CLUB MEETING TUESDAY

Will Elect New Officers for the Year at This Meeting

The Sunrise Civic Club will meet Tuesday evening at the East End schoolhouse for the regular meeting which takes place on the third Tuesday of each month. A program of speakers and musical entertainment is being arranged. The musical numbers are listed, but the speakers have not yet been selected by Mr. Mattison.

Mrs. Christine Pape Myers, who for years has been prominent in concert work throughout the country, will give a violin solo, and Mrs. John C. Kraus will sing. Both of these numbers will be accompanied by Mrs. A. R. Rose at the piano.

After the general entertainment is over, the election of new officers for next year's work will take place. The Sunrise Civic Club was organized for the interest of all of Eagle Rock a year ago this April, and last Friday a nominating committee was appointed, with Mrs. E. M. Runge as chairman. Announcement of the candidates for the new year will not be made until the meeting on Tuesday night. These candidates will then be voted upon by the members present. A later announcement will be made of the speaker selected.

Organizes Fascisti in America

It has just been revealed that the Fascisti, whose bloodless revolution swept Benito Mussolini into power in Italy, is organizing all Italians in America into Fascisti, swearing allegiance to the society. The organization is said to be under the directorship of U. Menicucci of New York City, who bears the temporary title of Political secretary.

OLD PAPER DRIVE MEETING WITH SUCCESS

Central School Students Will Call for Old Newspapers

The old paper drive being carried on by the students of Central school is meeting with more success than the wildest hopes of the young campaigners. There has already been a generous response on the part of townspeople who are more than glad to be rid of the newspapers and magazines that have collected in their storerooms during the winter. The boys of the school, in response to calls, take an old wheelbarrow which they have borrowed, and trudge wherever the residence of the donor of old newspapers may be located, up hills, or many blocks away, anywhere, load up the papers and take turns wheeling them back to the school. They are more than earnest in their desire to make enough on the sale of the old papers to publish a small school annual this term. One room brought in about 1200 pounds. The old papers are tied in bundles of 35 pounds each and these are then sold by the bundle. Although the students are getting a substantial pile of papers stacked up in the Central school hallway the rate is so low that it will take much more to make possible their plans for the year book. Anyone wishing to help the students by a donation of waste papers should call Garvanza 1 and request that the boys call at their residence with their "truck."

SALISBURY YACHT DAMAGED BY FIRE

LONDON, April 12.—The luxurious yacht Wisdom II, owned by Edward Salisbury of Los Angeles, has been seriously damaged by fire at Savona, Italy, says a Central News dispatch from Genoa. Flames starting in the petrol stores destroyed much of the machinery, art objects and gifts which royal personages had made to Mr. Salisbury. The damage is estimated at $1,000,000.

A VANISHING ART

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE
Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

Somebody in my hearing the other day spoke of conversation as a lost art. It can hardly be called that without exaggeration. But perhaps it may properly be termed a vanishing art.

What happens when people come together for a social evening? Do they find in conversation a sufficient means of passing the time pleasurably?

Not as a rule. There may be a few minutes of inconsequential, commonplace chit-chat. Then the demand is to set up the card table, turn on the phonograph or listen to radio.

If bridge, phonograph or radio are not forthcoming, you may be sure that the social evening will not be prolonged. "How terrible it is to have nothing to do but talk!" will be the sentiment of the great majority.

Yet conversation could be and should be one of the most delightful and profitable of human activities. For there are so many interesting and important things to converse about and so many different points of view for regarding those interesting and important things.

That perhaps is the difficulty.

To look at things from more than one point of view means to think hard about things. And hard thinking is what the majority of modern mankind would seem to be particularly desirous of avoiding.

Besides which, conversation offers so many opportunities for betraying one's ignorance. If one is too busy with one's work and one's amusements to read and study anything, one necessarily will be ignorant about a great many things. Why, then, run the risk of exposing one's self to ridicule by engaging in conversation?

Herein it may be, too, that we have in part the explanation not only for conversation's rarity, but for the present muddled state of society generally.

Social problems, especially the problems of a democratic society, clearly cannot be solved satisfactorily unless the individuals who make up society are willing to give real thought to those problems and by study fit themselves to discuss them intelligently. If the prevailing tendency is to evade all such thinking and avoid all such discussing, how is social progress to be continued, how indeed is social stability to be maintained?

Devotion to cards, the phonograph, radio, can never take the place of personal thought and conversation as instrumentalities in human advancement. If thought and the fine art of conversation languish, civilization must languish likewise.

How little does this seem to be appreciated today!

DRESS FORM ORDER SWAMP EAST END P. T. A.

The East End Parent-Teacher Association is provided with more orders than can be filled by persons who wish the paper dress forms which ladies of the association are making to provide funds for the P.-T. A. work.

It takes six ladies to make one of the forms in an hour and a half. Half of them cut, measure and plan, while the others paste and shape the form according to the measurements that are provided by the customer. The work is all done according to government farm bureau instructions. Many more orders could be taken if the ladies of the organization had time to devote to the work, as many calls are sent in each day for information regarding the dress forms, or to find out how soon the ladies can make one of the forms. One day each week is given to the work, and at this time as many dress forms as possible are made.

SURPLUSAGE IN STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE DUE THIS YEAR

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, April 12.—Indications that the nation's strawberry shortcake this year would be the largest on record was reported today by the United States bureau of agricultural economics. Statistics on early shipments and acreage in the berry producing fields showed that this year's crop would in all probability exceed that of last year which was 18,740 carloads shipped.

Forecast of production in Florida this year is 9,000,000 quarts or 110% more than last year.

City Employes Get Increase in Salary

Most of the city employes have received a raise in salary which will increase the bulk of their pay envelopes from now until the city of Los Angeles takes over the local city organization. When asked how substantial the raise that they are receiving is, one of the beneficiaries replied that he reckoned his in a new suit, and another that his was equal to a goat.

RAINMAKING TO BE ORGANIZED IN MONTANA

[By Associated Press]

ANACONDA, Mont., April 12.—A dispatch to the Standard from New York announces the purchase by Richard T. Ringling of Ringling, Mont., of ten airplanes which will be used by professional rainmakers in Montana's dry land farming district.

Ringling, who is a member of the famous Ringling Circus family, announces that beginning July 1, these planes, assembled at Great Falls, will make regular trips to various sections of the state and that by the induction into the air of electric current, positive and negative, will discharge ions from the upper wing of the machine, traveling at fast speed. These ions will form the nuclei of raindrops, which will hover over the earth in the form of clouds. Ringling's statement is that he will then be able to cause precipitation by a process which scientists have developed in New York.

ONE CIVIC CLUB FOR EAGLE ROCK

Plans Are Laid to Consolidate All Local Organizations

One big civic association for Eagle Rock which will be known as the "Eagle Rock Civic club," is the latest plan to come to the top in the annexation shake-up. The proposal that such an organization be formed will be made at the next meeting of the Sunrise Civic club. This idea of the formation of a large body of civic workers is not a new one, but at this time it is felt by many to be the proper step, where formerly it has not met with much approval or interest. After consolidation there will not be the same guiding bodies to cement the community together as a city, and to see that civic needs are kept in the minds of those who can better them.

A live organization of this kind would be able to do much for the local section of Los Angeles, as it will soon be, if properly guided and ably supported by the people of this district. No really large civic organization of this kind has ever been in active work here, although there are several smaller groups that are continuously at work for the betterment of all conditions which come under their supervision. These smaller groups could all be massed into one definite organization, with stated aims and interests in the local district.

It is felt that after consolidation, more so than ever before, the community spirit and social interest should be fostered here so that the citizens will not grow away from the civic interest which has been increasing constantly. For if the community spirit of the people is allowed to die down there will be no organized means of pulling together to get those things which Eagle Rock will be vitally in need of. So such a big civic club, outside of the chamber of commerce which is always the most effective business association of the district, would aid in keeping alive the spirit of co-operation here through social activities. In reality the organization would foster the spirit of friendship and neighborliness which brings the spirit of "one-ness" that is the vital thing in the life of a small district fighting forward. The activity of the new club would in no way clash with that of the chamber of commerce, differing entirely in the manner of accomplishing its aims.

These in general are the reasons advanced by those planning this new step.

Membership in the Sunrise Civic club is at present but a dollar a year, and the entrance fee would be but slightly increased, if at all, in the new association. All those who are interested in such an organization, and have any plans or ideas along the line of formation of these clubs, are asked to present them, and if their time permits, to take an active part in the work.

THE MARKETS

[By Associated Press]

Prices showed moderate improvement in today's stock market and a subsidance of selling pressure in the oil shares. Oil shares made good recovery from yesterday's weakness despite a cut in Ohio crude prices. Sales which were considerably reduced approximated 710,000 shares.

Opening prices in today's market were irregular. Short covering operations resulted in moderate gains in some of the oil and equipment shares, but this was counteracted by selling in other quarters, some of it from impaired marginal accounts. Baldwin and Mack Truck each advanced a point and Dupont moved up ¾. Pullman, Crucible and Studebaker were slightly reactionary. The price movements was mixed in the early trading. Miami Copper advanced 2 1-8 points and gains of a point or more were registered by Consolidated Gas, Tobacco Products, Pacific Oil and Punta Alegre Sugar. Mexican Petroleum, ordinarily inactive, opened 3 points above the previous sale. Skelly Oil and American Chain, class "A" stock, each dropped a point to a new low record for the year. Gulf States and Republic Steels, Utah Copper and American Agricultural Chemical were heavy. Foreign exchanges opened steady. Demand sterling was unchanged at $4.65¼, and French francs yielded one point to 6.7 cents.

HYGIENE and PLUMBING

AT no time in the world's history, have we given so much thought to HYGIENE. This fact is reflected in everything about us. The food we eat; the clothes we wear; the games we play; the houses we live in; in fact in everything in life today.

Man takes better care of himself than he did in the past. He watches his diet; takes care of his body; preserves his energy. He keeps fit. He golfs, he exercises, he motors in the fresh air. He lives more in the outdoors. He thinks of his health.

In all these things, nothing plays so important a part as Modern High-Class Plumbing.

To be healthy, happy and successful think first of the PLUMBING in your home. Select it YOURSELF. Buy it direct. Do business only with a member of the Sanitary Development League. It is composed of over 200 modern successful plumbers in Southern California. They know their business and will treat you fairly. The League is behind them and their work.

CITY CLERK INSTRUCTED TO CALL FOR BIDS FOR WORK ON SIXTH STREET

Burbank Council Votes to Proceed With Improvement Work on Three Streets

A great deal of talk and a larger volume of business occupied the attention of the city council at the regular meeting Tuesday evening. Interest centered, for most of the time, in considering street improvement proceedings.

Mrs. Mattie Craig presented her resignation from the City Planning Commission, because she is to leave soon for a long eastern trip. J. A. Newcomber was elected in her place.

Hearing of protests of the Sixth street improvements were continued from the last meeting. The council decided to overrule all protests and instructed the city attorney to draw up resolutions authorizing the Sixth street improvement and instructed the city clerk to call for bids.

Eighth street improvement protests were also overruled by the council and City Clerk F. S. Webster instructed to call for bids. Mr. Webster was instructed also to call for bids for the laying of water mains on Magnolia avenue and work to proceed at once.

A communication from the Realty Board asking that the council purchase a city park was read. The city clerk was instructed to communicate with the park board, and the realty board to discuss ways and means for the raising of funds for the purchase of such a park.

Mr. Kline presented the city planning zoning map.

The chairman of the street commission presented a proposition to sell gravel from the gravel pit to a local firm at the rate of 7½ cents a cubic yard.

BOURSE WILL PUT UP STORE

Hugo Bourse took out a building permit for ten thousand dollars for a store and garage, Wednesday. Other permits issued by Elmer Dale, building inspector, Wednesday morning were: A. E. Dean, for shed, $175; F. Margarita, garage, 505 East Flower street, $150; William Young, garage, $100; total, $10,425.

The total for the day was just $10,425 more than for Tuesday. Tuesday, no permits were issued and W. A. Smith, who is auditing the city books of all the departments, audited the books of the building inspector.

WILLIAM LYNCH DRAWS $30 FINE

Many of the younger generation were among those present at Speeders' Court Tuesday afternoon, some of them accompanied by their fathers. Twelve and eighteen-year-old drivers were appearing before Judge Crawford to give excuses.

William Lynch, son of William Lynch, Sr., manager of the Sunset Canyon Country Club, exceeded the speed limit on Olive Avenue, according to Officer Gates' report. For that reason his father had to pay $30 for him. This will be an additional birthday present for the son this week as the father had already issued dinner invitations for a dinner dance Friday evening in honor of the double birthday anniversary of father and son.

Earl Philips of Los Angeles declared this would be the last time he would ever come near Burbank for he found this trip cost him a $20 fine. "They told me all the way from Fresno down here to Burbank to steer clear of Burbank and I sure am going to do it from now on," he announced.

GOOD AUDIENCE IS PROMISED FOR SENIOR PLAY

Charm School to Fill the Burbank High School Auditorium

The Senior class play which will be given in the Burbank high school auditorium this evening will be fully of jolly fun for every one present. The girls and scenery, the plot and music furnished by the high school orchestra will furnish a note-worthy entertainment.

Dress rehearsal this afternoon attended by the grammar grade children proved the cast to have lived up to the extravagant praises given concerning its cleverness. Every member brought glory to the class and to the stage director.

The opening scene of the comedy is laid in a boys' dormitory but ends in a boarding school for girls. The funny situations in which the hero finds himself will keep you chuckling. Those who will shine tonight are Lyman Koppes, Tom Walker, Monzella Roach, Euna Emerson, Fred Bradshaw, Ralph Foster, Howard Wilson, Reynolds Packard, Elsie Smith, Fay Williams, Helen Jones, Pauline Allen, Marie O'Donnel, Edna Benton, Ellen Hursch, Doris Hench, Alice Steele.

CITY PLANNING COMMISSION WILL TRY TO HELP IN BRINGING SEWER SYSTEM TO BURBANK

Will Burbank get its sewer system that was promised three years ag? This was the question that worried the city planning commission when it met Wednesday afternoon. It has worried the merchants of the town for some time.

R. W. Colburn, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has offered to go to Sacramento to lobby for it and promises to put it through if sent. As all chamber of commerce secretaries have railroad transportation all the trip would cost would be a matter of $75. Mr. Spazier reported his offer to the commission.

The city planners voted to send the chairman of the commission, Charles Kline, and also a letter to the city council, asking that the trustees see if any action can be taken that will bring the sewer to town.

Mrs. Craig was present for the last time and Mr. Newcomber, her successor, was also present. The commission expressed regret that she is to leave Burbank and gave her a vote of thanks for the work she has done for the city.

GIVES RESUME OF CLUB MEET

Mrs. May Clarke Tells of the District Convention

By Mrs. MAY CLARKE

Through the courtesy of Arthur J. Rehnold, traveling passenger agent, Southern Pacific train No. 77 stopped at Burbank Monday, April 2, for the delegates to the convention, Mrs. J. A. Johnson, Mrs. E. A. Zuchor and Mrs. M. M. Clarke, thereby saving them an early ride to Los Angeles, as this train does not stop at Burbank. The ladies expressed their appreciation for his kindness to them; the trip was a most enjoyable one.

This is wild flower time in California, the hills and valleys are one vast carpet of beautiful coloring. Wild lupin of every shade and size, from a couple of inches high to the giants of three or four feet; then the stretches of wild forget-me-nots, blue as the sky above, daisies, cream-cups, and everywhere the golden poppies, trees just bursting into leafy green; all seen through a fine mist that blended and melted their colors into one grand tapestry. It was indeed impressive. I am sure that the 90 delegates from the south will not soon forget the picture.

The San Luis Obispo Women's Civic League was the hostess club. They had made every possible arrangement for the comfort and entertainment of the delegates. No one paid any heed to the rain, as there were autos and chauffeurs galore. All the business men, the chamber of commerce, bankers, and in fact everyone seemed to vie with each other to make the convention the brilliant success it was.

The San Fernando valley clubs were well represented—Glendale, Burbank, Van Nuys, Lankershim, Reseda, San Fernando—each sent its full quota of delegates.

Glendale, through the Tuesday morning club, sent an invitation to hold the 1924 convention in that city. Inyo county also invited them, but Glendale was chosen. Glendale was again honored in the election of Mrs. Charles H. Toll as district president. San Fernando sent a resolution against the changing of the name San Fernando valley to that of Los Angeles valley.

The northern clubs were much in evidence, and their programs were fine, indeed. Atascadero's was exceptionally fine, and her singers and actors a great credit.

Co-operation and co-federation was Mayor Linshemer's text. He was answered by Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald, state president, her speech being the high light of the evening. Mrs. John C. Urquhart, district prsident, directed the convention in a most able and efficient manner. The parliamentary drill led by Mrs. Charles S. McKelvey was one of the most interesting numbers on the program. Mrs. Robert J. Burdetete was received with a burst of applause every time she spoke. She is indeed a wonderful woman.

Taken as a whole the convention was a great success, and great credit is due those who worked so unceasingly for its success.

KIWANIANS PLAN FOR COURTESY WEEK AND BLUE AND WHITE CONTEST

Burbank Kiwanis Club members met Wednesday evening at the Good Fellows' Clubrooms for dinner instead of having their noonday luncheon meeting together. Jack White, district governor, was present, and told of Kiwanis plans. President Lewis and Ted Covel, secretary of the local club, told of a new plan which the club will adopt.

The Kiwanis club will put on a contest. The entire membership of sixty members is divided into two teams—the blue and white sides, R. O. Church is to be the K. K. K., the man at the head.

The purpose of the contest is to have each member call on every other member at his place of business. Each man has to sign a card of the caller. The team securing the sixty names on each member's card, showing they have all visited every other member will be the winners in the contest and the losers will buy them a dinner.

This was the idea set before the men Wednesday evening and was receivd with great enthusiasm. They welcomed this new means of increasing the friendship with the business men of Burbank. This morning saw the beginning of the contest with the blue team and the white trying to outrival each other in the first hour.

The plans of courtesy week which begins Sunday was another subject brought to the attention of the members. The club is to stress the value, importance and necessity of courtesy and particularly courtesy in business.

"If through the observance of Courtesy Week' your club can promote a greater regard for courtesy in your city, it will have contributed much to the life of the community. We, therefore, ask every Kiwanis club through its "Business Standards and Methods" committee to put forth every effort to carry out a successful 'Courtesy Week' program," wrote F. W. Parker, secretary of the Kiwanis Club International to all Kiwanis club secretaries.

The club sang Kiwanian songs. Among them was the new Burbank booster song written by Mrs. Clark.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST SCRAP BOOK CLIPPINGS

"Narcissus"—Nevin

One of the popular American composers still living is Ethelbert Nevin. He was born in 1862 on the banks of the Ohio, a few miles from Pittsburgh. There he spent the first sixteen years of his life and received all of his schooling, most of it from his father, Robert P. Nevin, editor and proprietor of a Pittsburgh newspaper, and a contributor to many magazines.

The first grand piano ever taken across the Allegheny mountains was carted over for Nevin's mother. From his earliest infancy Nevin was musically inclined and at the age of four, was often taken from his cradle to play for admiring visitors. To make up for the deficiency of his little legs, he used to pile cushions on the pedals so that he might manipulate them from afar.

Nevin's father provided for his son both vocal and instrumental instruction, even taking him abroad for two years of travel and music study. Later he returned to Berlin where he devoted himself so ardently to composition that his health collapsed. The early months of 1895 he spent in concert tours through this country. All of Nevin's compositions are tuneful and rhythmical. He says: "Above everything we need melody—melody and rhythm. Rhythm is the great thing. We have it in nature. The trees sway and our steps keep time, and our very souls respond."

Other popular works of Nevin are "Mighty Lak a Rose," and "The Rosary."

BAPTISTS TO FORM CHURCH

The Baptists scattered in and about San Fernando have organized themselves into a new Baptist church congregation. At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon they have invited representatives from Burbank and other Baptist churches of Southern California to sit in council with them to consider the advisability of accepting the new church into the State Baptist organization.

Rev. E. A. Main, Gorman Ohmart, and W. E. Roskam will represent the Burbank Baptist church.

A typical absent-minded savant from an eastern university was a member of a geological survey outfit in Arizona. One morning he found his watch at dead stop. It would not respond to any shaking and as the party was dependent upon it for observations, they sent the old professor and a keeper thirty miles by wagon to a little town where there was a watchmender. The man screwed the little tail light into his eye, gouged open the case, explored the works with his nut pick, closed the case, twisted the stem and handed the watch back to its owner, remarking gently: "That's a fine movement—one of the best I've seen. But you'll have to wind it."

NOTICE OF STREET WORK

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the City of Glendale, on the 19th day of February, 1923, did, at its meeting on said day, adopt Resolution of Intention No. 1819, declaring as follows:

SECTION 1. That the public interest and convenience require and it is the intention of the Council of the City of Glendale to order the following work and improvement to be done, to-wit:

First: That

THE FIRST ALLEY

east of Louise Street from the southerly line of Broadway to the northerly line of Harvard Street, except those portions which are already graded to the official line and grade, be graded to the official grade heretofore established therefor, the same to be done in accordance with Plan No. 624, Profile No. 346, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 36.

Second: That the first alley east of Louise Street from the southerly line of Broadway to the northerly line of Harvard Street, be paved with an oil macadam pavement three (3) inches in thickness in accordance with Plan No. 624, Profile No. 346, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 36.

Third: That a four (4) inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid in Kenwood Street, Harvard Street and in Broadway, and across all intersecting and terminating streets and alleys along a line seventeen (17) feet easterly of and parallel to the westerly line of Kenwood Street and its northerly and southerly extensions, said pipe to extend from a line seventeen (17) feet southerly from and parallel to the northerly line of Broadway and its easterly extension to a line twenty-one (21) feet northerly of and parallel to the southerly line of Harvard Street and its easterly extension; together with all connections, valves, fire hydrants and appurtenances, all as shown on Plan No. 624, and Profile No. 175, and said pipe and appurtenances to be used for fire protection and the distribution of the municipal water supply of the City of Glendale. Said pipe shall be laid in accordance with said plan and profile and between the points on the lines and grades, and at the elevations designated thereon. That said pipe, connections, valves and appurtenances shall be constructed in accordance with the plans and profile therefor designated as Plan No. 624, Plan No. 439, Profile No. 150, and in accordance with Specifications therefor adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 51 for furnishing and laying galvanized standard, welded screw pipe in the City of Glendale.

SECTION 2. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of California approved Februarv 27, 1893, and the Acts amendatory thereto, serial bonds bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum shall be issued to represent assessments of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars or over for the costs of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year at the rate of 7 per cent per annum on all sums unpaid, until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

SECTION 3. The City Engineer is directed to make a diagram of the property affected or benefited by the proposed work or improvement as described herein and to be assessed to pay the cost and expenses thereof. Such diagram shall show each separate lot, piece or parcel of land, and the area in square feet of each of such lots, pieces or parcels of land, and the relative location of the same to the work proposed to be done, all within the limits of the assessment district.

SECTION 4. All Maps, Cross-sections, Plans and Profiles referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Engineer of said City. All Specifications referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City. Said Maps, Plans, Cross-sections, Profiles and Specifications are hereby referred to for a more particular description of said work and made a part hereof.

The district to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses of said work and improvement is described in Resolution of Intention No. 1819, to which said Resolution of Intention reference is hereby made for further particulars of said work.

The enterprising secretary of the Kiwanis club, T. R. Covel, stopped at the Burbank office of the Daily Press. "Kiwanians celebrate courtesy week April 15 to 21. Please put in some courtesy bonbons in the Press, will you?"

One good turn deserves another, and since Kiwanis club members have extended courtesies to the Press what could be better than accommodate the secretary. "What do you want put in?" I asked.

"About the only man who can afford to be gruff is Marshal Cole when he pinches a bootlegger. You might say that. You could say in another paragraph:

"'When a printer gets 'out of sorts' it means that he has not enough type to spell words needed. Any person lacking courtesy is 'out of sorts.' Put a lot of little stars at the end of that and then say—

"Courtesy will tune with any broadcasting station. It catches the music of the universe and fills the person with joy who listens in. Put in more stars and then say—well you'd better save some for next week and run some of those bombs every day."

This warm spring weather is good for a flourishing crop of presidential candidates. Warren, Henry and Roosevelt need a California man to complete the quartet.

A hat Lenin will never wink his eye calling for poison to end it all.

JUSTICE AND HERRIN

The men charged with wholesale murders at Herrin, and according to the evidence as published, guilty of the crime, have been acquitted after a trial lasting many weeks.

That the men who did the killing had certain grievances, there is no disputing. They were engaged in a strike against wages that may have been unfair and inadequate. They had been under conditions possibly beyond patient endurance. The other side had provided armed guards to protect property and the lives of the men still working, or imported to work. This doubtless was highly exasperating. That it constituted license for shooting down, in circumstances of hideous brutality, more than a score of men, does not follow. The crime was shocking. It was viewed throughout the country as a horror, and a disgrace.

The men who had done the killing did not fear punishment. They boasted of their deed. No secrecy was sought to be cast about the fact of their participation. They openly defied the law and all the machinery of justice. This seemed rash boasting, but the slayers must have known what they were talking about. Finally these men were brought to trial. Witness after witness told of having seen them shoot and kill the hated guards and strike-breakers, the witnesses going into minute detail. The defendants were acquitted. That was some months ago. The second trial, ending also in acquittal, was in part of the same individuals.

It is impossible for the people of the country at large to view the outcome of the trial as other than a mockery. They will decline to believe that murder is a proper instrument in the conduct of industrial strife. They think that to ambush and butcher a group of men, even though the presence of the group is resented, is a course that no honest jury could uphold. It is evident that the law at Herrin has broken down utterly. When murder wanton, deliberate and fiendish, ceases to be a crime, the community content with such status has fallen low indeed.

THE CALLOUS KISSER

In a town not far away a wise man belonging to the municipal council proposes a law to forbid kissing in automobiles. Or to put the matter simply, perambulatory osculation, is coming under the ban. It is a peril of the highways. It is the portent of the smashup. It draws humanity in the general direction of the hospital and morgue. Therefore an impulse to smile at the councilman should be suppressed. A moving automobile is no place for spooning. A driver in any part aware of his responsibilities would decline to hug the fair one beside him. When recklessness leads him not only to do this, but in addition to kiss her, he runs the chance of being accessory to murder and suicide. If a young man is unable to restrain the emotion set up in him by the proximity of a charmer, at least common sense would suggest that the scene of proximity be elsewhere than in traffic.

In the old day of the horsedrawn vehicle courting along the public right-of-way was safe enough. The skilled driver did not need more than one hand, and with an experienced horse, did not need even one hand. Besides, the tide of travel did not then think of moving thirty miles an hour. The team that could make nine miles an hour was known as a "spanking pair o' hosses," and was likely to take a prize at the county fair.

The love-lorn automobilist should bear in mind the changes brought by time. A kiss on the highway now may mean that he is going to get bumped off. No matter about this, perhaps, but the girl should have a chance for her life. Other automobilists also are entitled to consideration.

ANOTHER ANGLE OF ATTACK

A woman in Des Moines has sued a bootlegger for heavy damages. The allegation upon which her action rests is that the defendant sold liquor to her husband; that while under its influence he drove an automobile, thus not only losing his job, but being arrested for driving while intoxicated. He was found guilty on the charge, sentenced to jail for a year, where he is now serving his term, and the wife, bride of five months, takes her wrongs to court.

The principle underlying the suit, whatever may be the course of the law, is sound, for it rests on justice. The purveyor of drink is morally responsible for results. If the drink causes death, he is accessory to murder or to suicide. For whatever damage is occasioned he deserves to be held to strict account. Were he required to pay the bills of patrons for medical attention, and stand all funeral expenses attributable to his business, there could be no profit left in bootlegging.

This young wife in Des Moines finds herself bereft of support. The husband who had supported her can do so no more for the present. The bootlegger deprived him of the privilege and power. What could be clearer than that her support is up to the bootlegger? Also the humiliation of having a husband sent to jail is worth counting into the bill.

The public will be likely to take sides in advance on this case. With the exception of the bootlegging coterie, everybody will be expected on the side of the plaintiff.

Members of the masked mob that kidnaped a woman at Santa Fe Springs, have not been caught at this writing. There seems to be no definite clue, but if the authorities will look for individuals having a particularly hangdog aspect of countenance, they may be on the right trail.

"JOCKEYING FOR POSITION"

Sunday an automobile thrust its deadly front into a group standing in a street car safety zone, fatally injuring a girl who had every right to assume that she was out of harm's way. The explanation was that the driver was one of a number "jockeying for position." This means that each was trying to gain an advantage, so that when traffic began to move, he might be able to move with the foremost rank of it. The time of the Sunday driver is so precious! By successful jockeying at each crossing, he might save a total of a minute in the course of a long ride. Much has been written about the value of each minute "set with sixty jeweled seconds;" much, by the way that is not true at all.

When an automobile is out for the pleasure of the occupants, and this generally is the reason it is out Sunday, consideration of time is of minor importance. Except in case of exasperating and needless delay, it is without any importance whatever. Whether the machine is at one side of a street, at a given instant, or on the other, makes not the slightest difference to anybody in the world. Let it be on the side that safety suggests. Yet almost invariably a driver is impatient to go, just for the sake of going, and not for the sake of getting anywhere in particular. Sunday a girl was killed by reason of this entirely selfish impatience. Every day some one is killed by it.

You Are Your Brother's Keeper

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

You are your brother's keeper, and lest you forget your stewardship, this week has been set aside as a national "be kind to animals" week.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

The humane movement in the United States is one phase of the great spiritual awakening that is pregnant with the promise of better things for a stricken world. You can't keep your soul in a love tight compartment, being good to yourself and yours and callous to everybody and everything outside and not suffer a spiritual decline.

The old idea that man has a right to use dumb things as he likes, and that God will approve, is fast going into the discard. When we repudiated the cruel God of the Old Testament for the gentle Nazarene we began a march toward universal justice that has only recently been understood as logically including dumb things.

Why should it include them? First, because they are as we, sentient, and so capable of suffering.

Second, because they love us and serve us unendingly.

Third, because they are helpless and without hands wherewith to defend themselves.

Fourth, because the bravest and manliest men are always ready to protect the weak.

History is full of touching incidents of the love and devotion of animals to men. Did you ever hear of "Greyfriars Bobby?" He was an Edinborough dog who for 14 years guarded the grave of his master. For his beautiful devotion Baroness Burdetts-Coutts erected a fountain in his honor in Greyfriar's churchyard, where you may see it today.

And do you know that suffering animals shed tears? They do just as truly as you. The writer knew a cat that shed tears when separated from his mistress and his home. Elks weep when wounded and elephants in captivity weep continuously after unsuccessful efforts to escape. Apes and even dolphins have been known to cry and seals sob and cry piteously when hunted or suffering. Even calves have been seen to shed tears for a long time when taken from their mothers.

These are not idle statements; they are the result of careful scientific investigation, and they prove beyond doubt that dumb animals suffer from the same causes and in the same way that we suffer.

An understanding of this fact will go far to remove from the world much unnecessary misery and will, moreover, establish between the different forms of life a sympathy the exercise of which will develop in men the finest qualities that have been implanted in the soul by the Creator of all.

Love one another means not only, love your own friends, family, race and kind, but love everything that lives and let that love find expression in acts of thoughtfulness and consideration.

THE RIGHT WORD

DIALOGUE

(Find the error in this article.)

A knock was heard.

"Who is there?" queried Jack.

"It is I" came Betty's quick reply.

There, you have it. The right word is I. Never say, "it is me." Furthermore, if Betty had cut down her reply to only one word, she would have said, "I."

For example:

"Who is there?"

"I" was Betty's quick reply.

Sometimes one is correct in using the word me; as, for example:

"I am going to give you the book."

"Me?" queried Jack.

You see Jack was really asking the question, "Did you say you were going to give me the book?"

One must think quickly, almost with lightning-like rapidity, when he uses either I or me alone.

Mrs. Carter says, "I will help you."

Whereupon, Mr. Carter looks up from his book and replies, "Me?"

In other words, Mr. Carter is asking the question, "Did you say you would help me?"

"Did you do that?" asked Frank.

"I?" inquired George.

George's completely expressed thought was, "Did you ask me if I did that?"

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

Sincerity.

An unmistakable quality.

Like the fadeless coloring in fabric.

The threads may wear and tear and the pattern may lose its shape and design, but the deep and fadeless color is yet in the thread.

* * *

A friend and the editor of this Listening Post were talking the other day of the quality of speech that gripped and held.

Was it eloquence?

We concluded it was not.

Because eloquence might be merely the mouthing of empty words.

* * *

Men have risen to heights of eloquence and convinced nobody.

The words did not have the quality that holds fast.

Their emptiness was apparent.

They were like the mere husks of meaning.

They must have the high spirit of truth and sincerity within them.

* * *

So we concluded that mere eloquence would not hold, even if it attracted.

And then we asked if the quality were interest.

And we concluded that while interest was useful, it was not enough.

Something more was needed.

* * *

Nor was it humor.

For humor is entertaining and educational, but something more is needed.

There must be something to which humor serves as a relief.

Something substantial, earnest, truthful, sincere.

For man can not live by bread alone.

Neither can he live by the yeast of bread alone.

* * *

And so we continued with the discussion of the thing in human speech that attracts and holds and convinces.

And we concluded that sincerity was the greatest thing of all.

And sincerity is something unmistakable.

Just as the rare dye that colors the thread to the end of time.

* * *

Something in the ring of the voice and the light in the eye and the clasp of the hand.

Something that rings true.

Something that awakens the echo of truth and sincerity in you.

* * *

But there can be no affected sincerity.

There can be no pretense.

Shouting will not do.

Noise is not convincing.

Quiet is often more convincing than noise.

* * *

Sincerity is the expression of belief.

Absolute belief.

Undoubting belief.

Not half-heated belief.

Not probability or possibility but certainty.

Certainty within one's own soul.

That is sincerity.

* * *

Honest belief clearly and courageously and simply set forth.

That is sincerity.

And that is the quality that attracts and holds attention.

More than eloquence or shouting or trick or artifice of speech or expression.

Songs of the Poets

"Never the Time and the Place"—By Robert Browning

Never the time and the place
And the loved one altogether!
This path—how soft to pace!
This May—what magic weather!
Where is the loved one's face?
In a dream that loved one's face meets mine,
But the house is narrow, the place is bleak
Where, outside, rain and wind combine
With a furtive ear, if I try to speak,
With a hostile eye at my flushing cheek,
With malice that marks each word, each sign!
O enemy sly and serpentine,
Uncoil thee from the waking man!
Do I behold the past
Thus firm and fast
Yet doubt if the future hold I can?
This path so soft to pace shall lead
Through the magic of May to herself indeed!
Or narrow if needs the house must be,
Outside are the storms and strangers: we
Oh, close, safe, warm sleep I and she,
I am she!

JOHN BURROUGHS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

APRIL is the birth month of John Burroughs, whom "Farm and Fireside" calls 'the farmer boy who grew to be perhaps the greatest living naturalist of his time, and one of the greatest of all time."

John Burroughs lived all his life on a 350-acre farm in the Catskill Mountains, in upper New York. It was the place where he was born, April 3, 1837.

Here was one farmer's boy that was never lured away to the city. He remained right where the Creator put him.

He wrote about the things that the Creator put around him. And the reason why his writings are interesting is because he knew and loved what he wrote about.

It does not make much difference what theme you take for writing so long as you love it and understand it, whether it's peanuts or politics, religion or recklessness. But it may be stated for the benefit of young writers that any attempt to describe things with which you are not familiar, particularly things you do not like, is likely to result in failure.

Burroughs was just a quiet farmer. He ate, dressed, lived, and thought as a farmer.

There is no reason why a farmer's brain should not be as acute and observing as the brain of a lawyer or a college professor. That is, no reason except that he does not use his brain.

Burroughs used his. He not only saw things but he looked at them. Also he remembered them. He went further, and set down the things that interested him, and he was interested in birds and beasts and their doings, and in the woods and sky and streams.

He never claimed to be a scientist or a literary gentleman.

He was just a plain man that lived outdoors and liked it. He was interested in it and wrote about it. And his writings will have a permanent place in literature.

All this, of course, is not intended to prove that one should not have a good education in books. Books have their purposes, but life is better.

"Oh, the old farm days!" he wrote. "How the fragrance of them still lingers in my heart! The spring, with its sugar-making and the general awakening about the farm, the returning birds, and the full, lucid trout streams; the summer, with its wild berries, its haying, its cool fragrant woods; the fall, with its nuts, its games, its apple gathering, its holidays; the winter, with its school, its sports on ice and snow, its apple bins in the cellar, its long nights by the fireside, its voice of the foxhound on the mountain—how much I still dream about these things!"

It is fitting that John Burroughs is buried near a big rock on his farm where cows graze about all day, and where he first saw a hermit thrush, a wonderful bird that not even his older brothers knew the name of, which fired his imagination and sent him to study birds.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

DYE PROFITS

[Chicago Journal of Commerce]

In an address to the Synthetic Organic Chemical Manufacturers' association in New York the president of the Chemical Foundation said to the dye manufacturers present:

"Take, for instance, $750,000 worth of golden orange sold in America last year. Five hundred thousand dollars of it was cold profit, and $500,000 of it was all left here as an available fund to keep up the general fight against you. So it is essential that you should assist one another."

This shows how Germany fights to retain her monopolies. She uses American dollars, secured by extortionate profits, to buy American influences to cripple American industry. She cannot pay reparations, but can, and does, spend vast sums to retain a rich and easy market.

When the French occupied the Ruhr, they took over many great Rhine chemical factories potent in the production of modern war necessities. "They represent the greatest power for evil in the world," says Mr. Garvan. What shall be done with them and their dye products? That is an important question in the dye trade. But the full development of the synthetic organic chemical industry in the United States, says General Fries, chief of our chemical welfare service, is a matter of deep concern. It is all that, not only to the war service, but to the American public, which pays enormous prices for dyes from Germany which should be manufactured here.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

The human mind, regarded as a spectacle, is as astounding for its folly as for its achievement. In this great age that many times has seen the seemingly impossible accomplished, there still is the mental type that clings to chimera. The proclaiming of an Einstein theory, the measurement of remote stars, the wondrous revelation of the energy of light, belong to the same time that sees the solemn presentation of "spirit pictures"; declares the life of Carnarvon to have been taken by a demoniac guardian of a pharoah's tomb, or that he was poisoned by an enemy, the decree that brought him this fate having been written in the stars.

HENRY JAMES

In these various researches and assertions are to be observed the extremes of intellectuality. Men of great minds, devoting all their power to the ascertaining of the truth; men of active but ill-equipped minds, dabbling in futile activities that cause their fervor to have the seeming of insanity, or of deliberate attempt to deceive.

"Spirit" pictures, with all deference to Conan Doyle, are fakes. They may be made by any photographer who chooses to be tricky. The slight-of-hand man produces them as readily as ever a medium has done.

The story of the malign ghost on guard throughout the centuries, and at last slaying the trespasser, does not merit analysis or denial. To treat it seriously would be to demean the faculty of common sense. Nor is the tale concerning the stars a whit better; both stand for folly of belief, for wobbly mentality, for the promotion of lunacy as a popular fad. There is no such science as astrology, and there is no fortune declared in the heavens that is not declared as accurately by the grounds at the bottom of a cup of tea.

Fittingly enough, as incidental accompaniment to all this weird mess somebody is engaged, in a daily paper at that, in the interpretation of dreams. People who for years have dreamed nightly, not one dream but scores of them each time, until the aggregate reaches into the thousands, know that a dream is without meaning. Dimly and uncertainly it may reflect the past. Of the future it tells the dreamer nothing.

In the multiplicity of dreams, a large share of these touching on human relationships and common experiences, it would be very odd, if due to the law of coincidence, one did not occasionally appear to have applicability to the waking situation.

As to the person assuming to interpret dreams, to find in them deep but subtle significance, it is enough to remark that he has his nerve.

Stretching away forever in space as well as in time, an infinitude of constellations may succeed each other. The mass is not to be visioned by the wildest imagination, and it is quite beyond measurement.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN PILGRIM

James Martin Miller was once young, blithe, and gay. He says he finds it hard to believe that now. But that is mere coaxing for compliment. We all do it. But that has nothing to do with the yarn.

"I was a young man in Kansas City," said he, "when Dodge City was booming and Wichita was noisy and Laramie was the limit. They are all more prosperous now than they were then. But no matter. Those were the days of the trail. Wide hats, spurs, guns, and whisky were featured."

Mr. Miller fell in love. The girl did not seem to respond. Mr. Miller determined on a desperate stroke. He bought a silk hat. It attracted attention in Kansas City at that time. Only tenderfeet, professional gunfighters, and actors wore them. The girl smiled upon him. Then he was transferred to Dodge City.

"My silk hat became a problem," said he. "I had no case in which to carry it, and if I had bought a case I would not have had money enough to reach Dodge City. So I determined to wear it."

The usual thing happened when the superheated frequenters of Dodge saw it. They kicked it around and shot holes in it. Then, finding that Mr. Miller was of a quaint and impressionable verdancy they kidnaped him. For six weeks he was a guest on a round-up. He did not want to be a guest, the mere sight of a saddle gave him shooting pains; and soda biscuits and coffee, washed down by a black liquid said to be coffee but the genesis of which was doubted by the guest, eventually made out of his bodily structure a seething hive for indigestion. When the round-up got back to Dodge his hosts turned him loose.

"Then," says he, "I found I had no job. My employers thought that a young man who had no better sense than to wear a silk hat into Dodge City would not add to the intake."

The moral is that the wrong set of economy is extravagance. Never throw good money after bad.

PIRATES HAVE A STRONG BALL TEAM

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 12 (United Press).—Due to causes which can be only partially explained, the Pittsburg Pirates won the inconsistent championship of the National league last season. The chart of the Pirates' record for the season is almost a perfect ladder of ups and downs on which they wandered erratically from second to sixth place and finished in a tie for third.

With the possible exception of the improvement that may be expected in several young ball players, the Pirates will be no stronger when they start after the 1923 pennant than when they finished the last race. It does not follow, however, that the Pirates will do no better than they did last year. On the contrary, it is possible that they may do much better. In figuring the chances of the Pittsburg team in the coming pennant race it is necessary to go back to last season and do all the figuring on what happened during that season.

For several years the Pirates have been strong potentially. When George Gibson, former Pirate catcher, was given the management of the club, much was expected from him and the team. After a bad early season start last year, the club fell to fifth place, then found itself and mounted up to second place, where it remained for three weeks. The team went to pieces and it was intimated that Gibson's inability to enforce the rules of training was responsible when the Pirates dropped down to sixth place in July.

At this point, Gibson resigned and Bill McKechnie was placed in command and almost immediately results began to show. The Pirates jumped into second place in two weeks. They slumped then and dropped down to fifth. McKechnie sent out a hurry call for Walter Schmidt, who joined the club, and the club played ball from then on.

Schmidt held out for an increase in salary before the season started and when it was refused he went into temporary retirement. Gibson never made serious efforts to get him back, being content, apparently, with the work of Johnny Gooch, a fine young catcher, who lacked nothing but the very essential knowledge of the batters and the stability to hold down the young pitchers.

If Bill McKechnie had been in charge of the team from the start, if Schmidt had worked in 100 games instead of only 40, and if Russell had been with the club before June, the Pirates might have won the pennant last year.

* * *

Russell, the old White Sox pitcher, who found out he could hit when he was about to pass out of the game, joined the team in June. He not only played right field acceptably, but his tremendous batting was one of the big features of the season. Figuring now that McKechnie will be in charge when the next race starts, that the team will have the skilled head of Schmidt behind the bat and the stick of Russell at the bat all season, the chances of the Pirates are at least good.

Eyebrows of some of the skeptic experts are lifted when the Pirates are held up as trouble-makers in the race, and they ask:

"Where are their pitchers?"

The Pirates are none too heavy in the box, but combinations can be worked out by an able manager that will overcome weakness in the box, as has been proved on several occasions by one John McGraw.

There had been a heavy fall of snow during the night, and as soon as it was light Grimpson crept downstairs and set to work to clear it from the front of his house. He worked hard for an hour and a half, and when he went to business he chuckled at the thought of the pleasant surprise for his wife.

When he returned in the evening his wife said: "That man did his work remarkably well this morning. There wasn't a bit of snow left when he had finished."

"What man?" asked Grimpson.

"The man you engaged to clear away the snow. He had just finished when I came down. I gave him half a dollar. Was that right, dear?"

Grimpson did not speak for some minutes, and when he did his wife got up and left him to have it out with himself.

Saunders, who lives in Memphis, Tenn., and is forty-two years old, started in the grocery business twelve years ago, after having worked in an iron mill. Today he is millionaire head of a chain of pay-as-you-leave stores. Last winter the James W. Elliott's Manhattan Piggly-Wiggly corporation, operating under a franchise from Saunders, failed, and Wall Street bears used the failure as an excuse to hammer Saunders's stock. Speculators were short thousands of shares recently when he cornered the market. His coup is estimated to have netted him close to $1,000,000.

JETER IS WARMING TO HIS WORK

JERRY JETER JOLTS

"Some of you women say: 'My, don't I wish I could put paint on canvas like Mr. Jeter does.' Well, if you would spend as much time putting paint on canvas as you spend putting it on your face you would soon learn to do this stunt alright.

"Some say that they do not break the Commandments. Perhaps not! They just bend them double.

"'Drive Slow, You Might Meet a Fool!' is a good sign to have on your car.

"You can not be cross and crabbed and gentle at the same time.

"This old world is lost and God alone can save it but God cannot save it alone.

"An officer in General Grant's tent started to tell a story and looking around, said: 'I see no ladies present and I'll tell my story.' The general said: 'Yes, but there are some gentlemen here.' The story was not told."

"I have a good story to tell you tonight," said Jerry Jeter at the tabernacle on the corner of Broadway and Cedar. "I like a good story," he continued. "Jesus spoke largely in story form. He told of the man who had lost a sheep and all of the people who owned sheep wanted to know what he had to say about sheep. He talked of birds and flowers and the people interested in those wanted to know what He had to say about them. Then He got to talking about money and every body got interested." Mr. Jeter told the story of the young men found in 2 Kings, 6th chapter. How the young men were in school under the great old professor, Elisha, studying to be preachers. The school building became too small and the students found a delightful location down by the river Jordan and commenced to build a school house large enough to meet the demands. As one young fellow was cutting down a tree his ax flew off of the handle and into the river. "Did you ever fly off the handle?" Mr. Jeter asked. "Some people," said the evangelist, "act like saints in the church and like demons at home. That young man's ax was a blessing to him but he had lost it. You have lost your blessings. Where did you lose them? Once you loved God and His church but you have lost that blessing. When some of you started for California you said: 'Goodby church, goodby religion, I'm going to California!' The young man called the prophet who said to him: 'Where did you lose it?' And the fellow showed him just where it went into the river. After the man of God had prayed a short prayer the ax did swim. The blessing was restored to the young man. Neighbor, show God where you lost your blessing and He will cause it to return to you, if not in this life, then in the next."

"This is one of my ancestors," she said, pausing before a portrait. "He fell at Waterloo. Have you any ancestors?"

He remembered an uncle who had charge of the foyer of a motion picture theatre, and murmured:

"Er—yes, one."

"Did he fall anywhere?" she inquired.

"Not exactly," was the reply, "but I remember being told how, clothed in a full uniform and unarmed except for a light cane, he stood before a gorgeous palace and kept a howling, surging mob at bay, single-handed."

"Really!" she exclaimed. "How splendid."

"Oh, he thought nothing of it. Did it every night for years," said he.

EMBROIDERED AND PRINTED FABRICS

Embroidered and printed fabrics become more and more alluring and many are now exceedingly reasonable. Fine cotton crepe embroidered in Paisley designs comes in several different colors.

COOL—COZY—COMFORTABLE

Did You Ever Stop to Think---

By E. R. Waite, Secretary Shawnee Board of Commerce

THAT what kind of a citizen are you, are you an asset to your city, or a liability?

THAT after all, a city is nothing more or less than an aggregation of citizens, some good, some bad, and some indifferent.

THAT its civic life will be no higher than the average of its citizens.

THAT among the greatest assets a city should have, are —cleanliness, beauty, enterprise, far-sightedness and a spirit to do greater things.

THAT the man who can't keep his own yard clean and beautiful, and use every effort for the improvement of his city, who does not look to the future of his city, uphold the schools and churches, cannot claim to be up to the standard of what an average citizen should be.

THAT when you give the public facts, they will do their own arguing and own deciding.

THAT the public has not been given all the facts concerning your city.

THAT if the facts about your city were given out and understood by your city, they would show that your city is one of the best cities of its size and class in your section of the country.

THAT your natural resources are so great, with the proper co-operation of all your citizens, it can be made to grow in a few years, into a city twice its present size.

A SONG AT THE MORNING

A song at the morning,
A greeting to day;
Come, heart to the doing
Of what good we may.
Now sing it with laughter,
Let all of us share;
And cheer, follow after,
And drive away care.

A song at the noon time
When in the blue sky
Above us in June time
The sun rises high.
Come, heart, to the gladness
Of work and of play,
And sorrow and sadness,
Let's sing them away.

A song at the twilight,
When low sinks the sun,
The sheaves in the shadow,
The day's work near done.
Come, heart, with thy singing
Through meadow and lane,
The hands of us bringing
The full ripened grain.

Come, heart, with thy singing,
At dawn and the noon,
At dusk, through the shadows,
The night coming soon.
Too soon dies the laughter,
So sing while we may,
Till sleep follows after
And night ends the day.

POSTPONED PARTY TO BE GIVEN APRIL 18

The postponed card party and musical that was to have been given last week by Mrs. McNaughton Barnes, Mrs. J. Cunningham, Mrs. F. A. Archer and Mrs. Roy F. Bancroft at the home of the latter, 11 West Eulalia street, is announced for April 18, from 2 to 5.

This party is a benefit for the Tuesday Afternoon club.

A delegation had called on Jones to get him to serve on the house committee of the country club. "Gentlemen, I thank you for the honor from the bottom of my heart, but there is nothing doing. I already have a wife, a son-in-law, and a second-hand car. I think that is trouble enough for one man."

THREE STATE PICNICS

Three state picnics will be pulled off Saturday, April 14, in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, when New York state, Rhode Island and Connecticut will have great rallies in the same place. All the jolly picnic features common will be carried out and all former residents will be made welcome. Picnickers will bring basket dinners, but hot coffee will be supplied. All from these states are urged to come and join in the fun.

Oklahomans never fail to remember a great day in their history, known in statewide parlance as "Oklahoma day." It will be celebrated this year by the "Sooners" and those of all the "runs" and all of the others by a jolly picnic reunion in Bixby park, Long Beach, all day Saturday, April 21. Every Oklahoman in our southland is included in the wide open invitation. Hon. Milton Bryan, president, will preside and is in charge of the program. County registers will be provided, hot coffee, badges. Oklahomans are urged to join in making it a great day. Picnickers will bring basket dinners.

Two heads are better than one—except when you have a headache.
